ALLIED ARMOR RACING AHEAD

BRITISH-AMERICAN ARMORED TEAMS ROAR THROUGH NAZI LINES

UNPRECEDENTED ACTION CONTINUES ALL UP AND DOWN WESTERN FRONT

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor.

Field Marshal Montgomery's British-American armored teams roared through a wide break in German lines north of the Ruhr today and were reported in a field dispatch to be menacing Muenster, Osnabrueck and Hannover, the latter 142 miles from Berlin.

At the same time Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army tanks and shock troops smashed to within 207 miles of Berlin, and the armor of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third lanced to within 214 miles of the German capital, as the Nazis reeled along the front.

Behind the sweeping advances in the north, Ninth Army troops captured Duisburg, great Ruhr port on the Rhine, and to the South Frankfurt on the Main was virtually cleared.

Fight Far Inside Germany.

Gen. Eisenhower's armies fought 145 miles inside Germany as a portentious news blackout covered Montgomery's drive across the Westphalian plain. The blackout was imposed "because of the rapidity of present operations" as tanks raced through disintegrating German lines. The British Second Army, ordered to strike hard and deep, moved ahead as a speed matching Patton's.

As disaster tumbled upon disaster for German arms, Prime Minister Churchill asserted that "the hour of success" was near. His statement was made in a letter endorsing a Liberal candidate for comm

Numerous Cities.

Numerous cities were within the grasp of the advancing Allies. Among them were Kasse, 43 miles beyond last-reported First Army positions; Essen, Ruhr industrial center, six miles from the Ninth Army; and Heidelberg,

TEXAS HOUSE AND SENATE ADJOURNED TODAY TO MONDAY

GOVERNOR ISSUES WARNING THAT STATE REVENUES MAY GO BACK IN RED

AUSTIN, Tex., March 29—(AP)—The House and Senate today adjourned until Monday.

The House spent most of the morning debating or subjecting to parliamentary jockeying a bill authorizing the board of regents of the University of Texas to levy a fixed fee for support of the student union. It finally passed Senate bill 116 on this subject, with one amendment, by a vote of 67 to 57. The measure must go back to the Senate for concurrence.

The House also voted to suspend the joint rules to permit it if it sees fit to lay out any general appropriations bill on Wednesday and Thursday, Senate bills days, to expediate their consideration.

After first beating down two motions to adjourn until Monday in a sharp exchange of statements relating to Senate work hours, the Senate amended, approved and sent to the House a bill by G. C. Morris of Greenville allocating approximately $672,000 for a new division in the State Department of Education for the education of exceptional children.

Members Object

During one move to adjourn until Monday which would have had the effect of shutting off further consideration of the measure, Morris brought number of the members to their feet to object to a statement in which he said:

"If we can just work about three days a week then we ought to apologize for passing that bill yesterday"—(a constitutional amendment raising the salary of members

WIND, RAIN STORMS DID MUCH DAMAGE; 10 PERSONS INJURED

LOWLANDS AROUND SULPHUR SPRINGS FLOODED WITH EIGHT INCH FALL

By The Associated Press.

A 14-year old girl drowned in a creek near her Dallas home today (Thursday) after a torrential rain and hail storm and at least 10 persons were injured near Terrell and Wills Point last night by strong wind and rain storms.

Marvel Parks drowned near her home about noon. Neighbors said she apparently had fallen into the stream.

An eight-inch rain at Sulphur Springs flooded lowlands in that area and closed roads to traffic.

The U. S. weather bureau at Dallas said rains that fell in near cloudburst proportions at Dallas, Sulphur Springs and Henderson county, did not appear to be general over the state. Moisture was concentrated mostly along the path of the Trinity river from the Trinidad-Palestine area northwestward up the river, the bureau said.

Seven persons, members of two families, were injured when a tornado swept the Abner community near Terrell and demolished their homes. Five of them were caught beneath debris. The other two Mrs. Raymond Stieffer, whose foot was broken, and her son, Harold, 12, partly crippled by infantile paralysis, walked half a mile to call help.

The injured were exposed to the storm, which wa asccompanied by four inches of rain, for four hours before they were hospitalized at Terrell. They were: W. C. Davidson, 50, crushed chest; Mrs.

Cyclone Scooped Water From Lake Late Wednesday

A small cyclone dipped into Lake Halbert late Wednesday afternoon scooped up water some fifty feet in the air a couple of times, and then the twisting cloud with the whipping funnel-shaped tail moved on in a northeasterly direction and failed to touch any other Navarro county point.

City authorities and others who witnessed the dangerous cloud said that limbs from nearby trees also were picked up, but the cyclonic cloud did not touch any houses in that area.

Heavy Rain at Rice

Richland creek was reported three-quarters full early Thursday morning while a 3 3-4 inch rain in the Rice area sent Chambers Creek boiling into the lowlands and the smaller streams out of their banks in the northern section of the county. Chambers creek also was over the lowlands east of Corsicana.

The government guage in Corsicana registered only .64 inch. The guage at the city lake pump station showed .83 inch precipitation. Eureka reported an inch rain while Mildred advices were heavy precipitation. Richland said only a shower fell there, accompanied by considerable lightning and wind. Some hail fell in Corsicana.

Wind And Rain

Dawson and Kerens reported big rains but no damage. Frost experienced a big rain, accompanied by "lots of wind that damaged several telephone lines." Blooming Grove reported big rain and much wind.

Guy M. Gibson, owner of a large tract of land near the point where Chambers and Richland creeks converge in Southeastern Navarro county, reported the "biggest rain

BOTH CITY, COUNTY POLL TAX MUST BE PAID VOTE TUESDAY

QUALIFICATIONS TO CAST BALLOT MUNICIPAL ELECTION ARE EXPLAINED

Citizens may not vote in the Corsicana city election April 3 unless they have both a valid state and county poll tax receipt and a city poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate, Doyle Pevehouse, city attorney, stated in a letter addressed to city election judges Wednesday.

The opinion given in the letter reverses a previous opinion Pevehouse gave tfhe city tax assessor and collector early in the year. At that time Pevehrouse held that only a city poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate of valid date was necessary to qualify one to vote in the city election.

Letter to Judges.

Pevehouse's letter to the election judges reads:

"I advisnd Kate Dunn, city tax assessor and collector, in January that it was not necessary for a person to have both his or her city poll tax, coupled with a state and county poll tax, in order to participate in a city election, and I at that time gave you an opinion to the effect that it was not necessary to have a state and county poll tax, coupled with a city poll tax, to vote in a city eltction.

"My opinion of that date was based upon Article 1030 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925, as amended, and my construction of Section 7 under "Elections" of the city charter. Since that time, however, I have come to the conclusion, under a construction placed on Article 2955, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, which provide that:

Applys All Elections.

"'Any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of this state shall have paid said tax before offering to vote at any election in this state,' and also that:

"'The provisions of this Article as to casting ballots shall apply to all elections.'

"This statute is but a re-statement of Article 6, Section 2, Constitution of Texas. From the language used, the payment of a state and county poll tax is necessary prerequisites to the right to vote in a city election.

"It has been held by the courts in Powell vs. City of Baird, in which the court said that Article 6, Section 2, Constitution of Texas, means that no person subject to a poll tax is qualified to vote at any election in this state unless he has paid such tax, and further, before a voter is qualified as such, he must pay any poll tax that he is subject to, which has been levied by authority of any state law. JAPANESE REPORTED U. S. TRANSPORTS IN RYUKYU ISLANDS AREA

ACTIVITIES INDICATE ANOTHER ISLAND INVASION BY AMERICANS

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor.

Japanese reported American transports were moving into the Central Ryukyu chain today where unprecedently large U. S. naval forces, rounding out a week of air and ship bombardments, left no doubt they were preparing for another major invasion.

Tokyo radio said Okinawa, 325 miles south of Japan, was the major objective; that "20 to 30" transports were trying to reinforce U. S. troops already on the Kerama Islands 15 miles to the west; and that American movements indicated landing attempts also against Okino Daito, nearly 250 miles southeast of Okinawa.

American commanders said nothing about any of this but did announce their carrier and land-based planes hit 43 Nipponese ships and destroyed 38 planes. An enemy communique claimed 30 American warships were sunk and 14 damaged in the Ryukyu islands, which link Japan and Formosa.

Radio Tokyo reported American seaborne aircraft attacked Kure

Sgt. Thompson Is Wounded In Action For Second Time

Sgt Alvin S. Thompson, 30, U. S. army, infantry, was wounded in action in Germany February 24, according to information received by his wife, Mrs. Edith Thompson, Corsicana, Route 1. He had previously been wounded in action in Germany November 16, 1944.

Sgt. Thompson, now in a hospital in France, entered the service December 3, 1943, and has been overseas since August, 1944. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Thompson, Purdon, Route 1.

GENERAL HODGES' ARMORED DIVISIONS WHEEL NORTHWARD

BURST THROUGH WESTPHALIA AND HAMMER TOWARD NORTHERN PLAINS

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH THE U. S. FIRST ARMY March 29.—(AP)—Suddenly wheeling north, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' armored divisions burst through Westphalia and hammered on toward the northern plains of Germany in another day of sensational gains against feeble opposition.

Jumping off in the gray dawn of a chill and cloudy day, the tanks drove from 16 to 39 miles ahead in the first seven hours and were reported officially tonight to have reached the vicinity of Langwiesse, 40 miles north of Giessen, in the deepest penetration in this new direction.

Other columns reached Hallenberg and Frankenberg in the same area.

This wheeling movement to the north—if the direction of the attack is maintained—will drive the powerful First Army in behind the Ruhr as the southern jaw of a pincers with Field Marshal Montgomery's forces.

Shields His Change.

For 36 hours Hodges shielded his change of direction from the enemy by imposing a news blackout on his hard-riding tank columns. The move has been made and the enemy now obviously knows where Hodges is headed.

The greatest blackout at the present time, however, is the result of communications troubles. But it seemed evident that German resistance in this area was crushed.

All Tin Cans Not Useable Salvage Prince Explains

Fred Prince, Navarro county salvage chairman, expressed appreciation for the co-operation being shown by the citizenship in the tin can salvage campaign now in progress here but he requested that no tin cans not properly prepared be placed in the collection bin on East Collin street.

Prepare Properly.

"Only cans that have contained food are useable and these cans must have all paper removed, be washed clean, both ends cut out and folded inside the can and the can must then be mashed flat," the chairman explained, stating that some people in their enthusiasm to help in the war effort were bringing all manner of cans as well as waste paper and cardboard and placing this salvage in the tin can bin.

No Oil Containers.

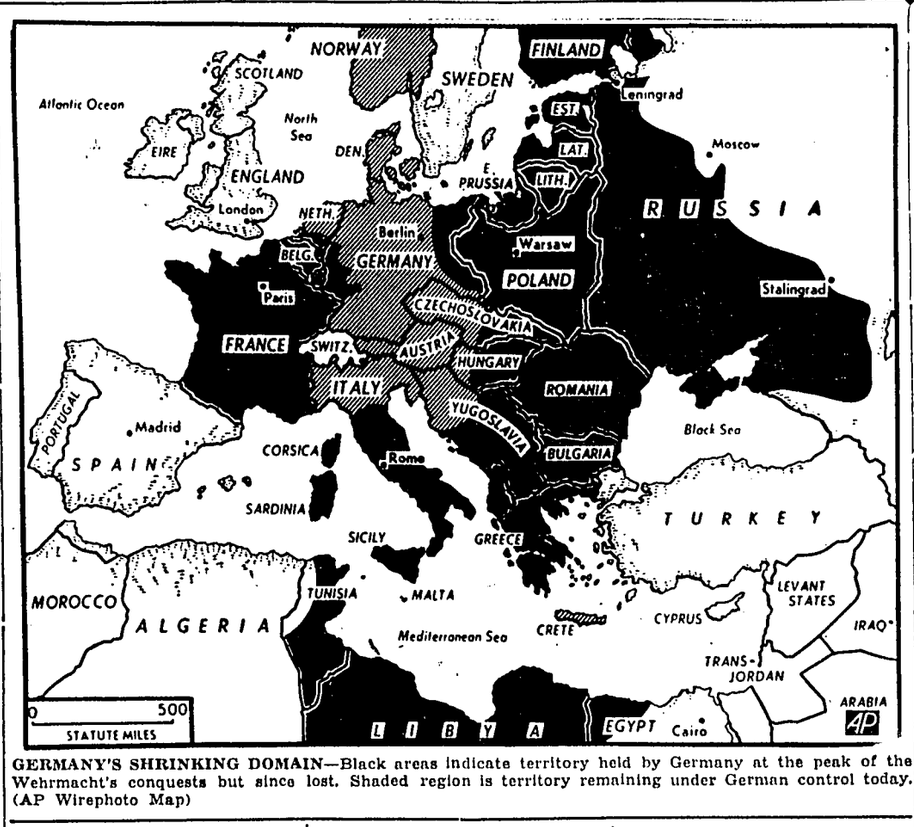

"Cans that have contained oil positively cannot be used and if the oil containers are placed with the other cans many properly prepared containers will be ruined," he stated.

"Please prepare your cans properly and remember only cans that have contained food meet the specifications of the national salvage organization,' Prince reminded. He also requested that no waste paper or caraboard be placed in the tin can bin.

Next Collection May 6.

The next can collection drive will be held on May 6. Approximately 15,000 pounds of cans were collected in last week's drive. If everyone will co-operate in preparing, saying and collecting the cans an additional 15,000 pounds of this vital material will be collected and a full carload of cans shipped from here following the May 6 collection date, Prince said.

He urged school children in Corsicana and over the county to continue to bring cans to school each Friday, the day of the week designated as can collection day for schools.

RUSSIAN ARMY UNITS RACE THROUGH NAZI LINES TO AUSTRIA

THIRD UKRAINIAN ARMY ONLY 39 MILES FROM VIENNA ON FRONTIER

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—The Red army, breaking through the German's fortified zone of Northwestern Hungary in a surge up the Danube valley, has reached the Austrian border.

Marshal Stalin announced tonight the border was reached at Koszeg, 42 miles south of Vienna and 20 miles west of Sarvar, captured yesterday.

Kaptuvar and Szombathely, strongholds in the extreme western part of Hungary, were captured in the sweep, Stalin announced.

The big Stalin tanks and armored cars of Marshal Feodor Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army, smashing ahead from captured Csorna, hammered at the defenses of Pamhagen 39 miles southeast of Vienna, St. Johann on the frontier to the northeast and Mosen (Welselberg) near the Danube 21 miles southeast

Sgt. Tankersley Receives Award Of Bronze Star

WITH THE 95TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Germany.—Staff Sergeant Henry M. Tankersley, of Kaufman, Tex., has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service during the 95th (Victory) Division's drive through Metz to the Siegfried Line.

Throughout this period of offensive operations Sergeant Tankersley performed his duties as classification non-commissioned officer of the 378th Infantry Regiment in a consistently outstanding manner.

A graduate of the University of Texas, Tankersley was employed by the Atlantic Refining Co., in Dallas, prior to entering military service October 1, 1941.

WHOLE FLAMING WESTERN FRONT PLACED UNDER AN INTRIGUING CLOAK OF BLACKOUT MYSTERY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

Field Marshal Montgomery today clamped a news blackout on the Allied northern wing, thereby placing the whole erupting Western front under a cloak of intriguing mystery, though one which fortunately is pleasant enough in contemplation since we know it is merely for security reasons and conceals details of our mounting victory over the Hitlerites.

One thing a news blackout can't hide, and of course isn't meant to conceal—and this is that Hitler's military machine and civil administraton are in a state of rapid dissoluton. They're like a dyke which gradually has been weakening until finally the ravaging waters tear a gap and the whole structure seems to dissolve in the flood.

It's no exaggeration, I believe, to say that without this giant striking power, peace would still be years away instead of just around the corner.

The development and application of Allied air strength has been one of the epics of the war. Only as far back as '42 Anglo-American bombing was just beginning to show potentialities. The world was aroused to possibility by the first great 1,000 plan raid by the Royal Air Force on Cologne—a seven days' wonder. Later it developed that this was staged by Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris for the purpose of surprising the Allied world into an understanding of what air power could do.

That first great demonstration was in effect a plea for more bomber strength. In the fall of '42 when I spent much time with both Harris and General Eaker, then head of U. S. bomber forces based in England, they were begging for more warplanes. Harris had used virtually everything that he could make fly in order to stage the Cologne raid. The Allies were weak in air strength then, and really "got going" in '43—only two years ago.

Contributions To Red Cross Fund Total $41,367.94

Contributions to the 1945 American Red Cross War Fund totaled $41,367.94 at the close of business Wednesday, according to announcement by W. B. Levy, county chairman.

Levy urged that all collections be turned in to his office not later than Saturday as it is very important that final reports on the campaign be made not later than that day.

"It will be impossible for me to make a final report until all individuals and groups turn in the money at my office," the chairman said, adding that he hoped to close the campaign with the Saturday reports.

The Navarro county quota of $32,300 is far over-subscribed. The national quota is $200,000,000.

SECRETARY PERKINS URGES EXTENSION OF COAL MINE CONTRACT

MINERS VOTE OVERWHELMINGLY BACK LEWIS THREATENED STRIKE

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Seeking a 30-day extension of the present contract, Secretary of Labor Perkins appeared today before soft coal wage negotiators in the wake of an overwhelming miners' vote to strike.

Meanwhile Presidential Press Secretary Jonathan Daniels, replying to a question whether President Roosevelt is getting ready to step into the coal situation, said that yesterday's strike vote has to be reported to the president and he did not think that had happened.

Still awaited was John L. Lewis' reply to a proposal of Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes that the contract be extended 30 days and any wage adjustments be made retroactive. The operators have rejected the Ickes proposal in the form it was presented.

Contract Expires Saturday.

The present contract expires Saturday midnight, but the better than seven to one margin favor of a strike does not necessarily mean Lewis will call one then.

This was the question:

"Do you wish to permit an interrption of war production in war time as a result of this dispute?"

U. S. FIRST ARMY THREATENS CUT OFF ENTIRE RUHR AREA

ALL OVER FRONT ALLIED TROOPS RACE THROUGH BREAKS IN NAZI LINES

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, March 29.—(AP)—The U. S. First army wheeled north in a 40-mile spurt which came within 68 miles of cutting off the Ruhr today and the Third army raced to within 199 miles of Berlin.

The First army, unmasking a maneuver which threatened to block out a rich Ruhr and East-Rhine area 65 miles long and 50 miles wide, reached the area of Langwiesse, only 48 miles southeast of Hamm, eastern exit of the Ruhr. It also reached Frankenberg, 200 miles southwest of Berlin.

The illustrious Fourth armored division, pacing the rush of the Third army, roared eastward for 20 miles on the First army's right flank and entered Lauterbach, 199 miles southwest of Berlin on a sideroad to Leipzig.

On the north fringe of the Ruhr the U. S. Ninth army captured Haltern, 68 mile snorthwest of Langwiesse.

65 Mles East of Cologne.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, in swinging around the Ruhr, already had reached a point 65 miles directly east of Cologne.

All over the front British and American troops raced through wide breaks in German lines. North of the Ruhr they were reported menacing Hannover, 142 miles west of Berlin.

The First army's surge placed it within 78 miles of Muenster, also menaced by the forces north of the Ruhr.

The Third army also was advancing along the southeastern flank of the First army, but most of the front was under a news blackout which prevented full disclosure of whereabouts of the probing columns of armor and tank-riding infantry.

Hodges Lifts Veil.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges lifted the veil on his first army to permit disclosure of his northward swing after a 36-hour silence, but even then out-run communications prevented announcement of the full extend of his penetration.

To the north, it was known that the British Second army had made a 20-mile advance. The U. S. Ninth army, fighting along and into the northern fringe of the Ruhr, made another six-mile advance along Hitler's broad highways, tearing up only an occasional enemy pocket of resistance.

Haltern, 20 miles northwest of Dortmund, and 35 miles west of Hamm, largest freight yard in Germany, was captured by the Ninth.

Duisburg in the Ruhr rap up the white flag.

All of Frankfurt on the Man except the northern outskirts was captured by the Third army, whose

SENATE COMMITTEE APPROVES EXTENSION PRICE CONTROL ACT

CHANGES IN ACT ADVOCATED BY INDUSTRY, ADMINISTRATOR REJECTED

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Extension of the price control act for one year without change was approved today by the Senate banking committee.

The decision was reached after OPA officials assured the committee they would try by administrative means to adjust policy practices against which some business groups have complained.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) told reporters he thought the committee action was now "all set" but that it could, of course, change its mind and recommend amendments before filing its report. The report probably will not be filed until next week.

In approving an extension of the act without change, the committee not only turned down amendments asked by industry groups but a series of changes proposed by Price Administrator Chester Bowles.

The OPA chief had recommended that he be empowered to place ceilings on movie tickets and barber and beauty shop charges. He also asked that rents for business establishments be brought under contro.

Still another Bowles proposal was for action to half what he called the inflation of real estate and securities. On this latter proposal, the committee sentiment was described as being that any action taken should be handled as separate legislation rather than included in the price control law.

CHANGES BE MADE IN POINT VALUES OF CERTAIN PRODUCTS

ALSO ANNOUNCED THAT PORK POINT VALUES WILL BE INCREASED SUNDAY

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Point values go up Sunday for canned peas and asparagus, while at the same time the ration cost of sweet cherries, plums, prunes and tomato juice will be slashed.

These blue point program changes, announced by OPA today, will go into effect as housewives begin to pay more red points for pork and pork products, lard, shortening, margarine and salad and cooking oils. The red point increases range from one to three points a pound.

Prevailing point values on butter, beef, lamb and veal and most cheese will be maintained during April.

Peas were given a new value of 30 points and asparagus 20 points in No. 2 cans. Both items are being hiked 10 points because supplies have been moving too rapidly, OPA said.

Movement of the three products and tomato juice, on the other hand, has been behind schedule. This makes it possible, the agency explained, to cut values of No. 2 1-2 cans of sweet cherries to 40 points, down 20, and plums and prunes to 20 points, down 10.

Tomato Juice Cut

A 50 per cent cut in tomato juice values reduces No. 2 cans to 10 points, while 46-ounce containers go to 20 points.

In disclosing revision of red point values last night, Price Administrator Chester Bowles said pork increases are necessary because the supply will be about five per cent less in April than this month.

Bowles said, however, that the 12 per cent cut in overall civilian meat supplies for the next three months "will be felt very little during April."

In May and June, he added, there

Silver Star Has Been Awarded To S-Sgt. Chirafis

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy.—Staff Sgt. Johnny M. Chirafis of Corsicana, Texas, recently was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Northern Italy.

Chirafis is a member of Company B, 133rd Infantry Regiment of the 34th "Red Bull" Division.

Seeing that a radio operator of his company was severely wounded, Chirafis left his position of safety and ran and crawled 100 yards to retrieve the radio. Reestablishing communications with his battalion, he informed them of the situation and requested litter bearers to evacuate the casualties.

Once again leaving his sheltered position and in full view of the enemy, Chirafis crawled forward and assisted two wounded and semi-conscious comrades to reach a sheltered position.

"Sergeant Chirafis' initiative and courage kept the main line of communications to the higher echelon open and enabled 14 wounded comrades to gain prompt medical attention," the citation read.

He is the son of Mrs. Francis Chirafis, 900 North Third street.

INFORMATION FOR VICTORY GARDNERS ON TRANSPLANTING

Victory gardeners and entrants in the Junior Chamber of Commerce victory garden contest were given the following suggestions, Tuesday, on how to transplant seedlings by Billy Patrick, chairman of the Jaycees agricultural committee:

Transferring a seedling from an indoor seed bed or a cold frame to the open ground should be done quickly and carefully. At best, the transplanted seedling is given a setback from which it takes time to recover and resume growth.

Choose a cloudy day or do the work in the evening if possible. If the young plants must be set out in sunshine, shade them for a few days until they become adjusted to their new quarters. Old berry boxes are good protection for newly transplanted seedlings.

The seedling should have made its first true leaves at least before being set out, and the time should be right for transplanting. In removing the seedling from its bed, take great care not to break or injure the roots. Keep as much of the original soil around the roots as you can.

The ground into which the seedling is to be transplanted should be worked up fine at least four or five inches further down than the depth of the hole for the plant. The hole itself must be deep enough and wide enough to receive the roots without cramping.

Fill the hole with water before transplanting. Then lower the seedling gently into the center of the hole before the water is all soaked away. Fill in around the roots with fine soil to firm the plant into position. Round up the soil a little at the base of the plant and press it down with your fingers. The more closely the roots come in contact with the moist soil, the sooner they are likely to start growth. In the case of tomato plants, set about two inches of the stem into the hole as well as the roots. The underground portion of the stem soon puts out roots too, to help the plant make a strong sturdy start.

holds to the extent that our city charter provision is void as a matter of law. Cameron vs. Connally 299 S. W. 221.

Both Receipts Needed.

Therefore, since a ruling of the court has been made on the subject matter on which I rendered an opinion to you in January, I now advise you that, in order to participate in city elections, it is necessary that those who would participate have a city poll tax receipt, coupled with state and county poll tax receipt. However, those over 60 years of age who hold an exemption, may participate.

"Now, with reference to another question that has been propounded to me, with reference to absentee voting in city elections, this is to advise that an ordinance passed by the city commission, of date Feb. 21, 1933, authorizes absentee voting in city elections by persons who are qualified. An absentee vote may be cast not earlier than the last Wednesday in March prior to a regular election, and continue through the day preceding the day on which the election is to be held. Such voter, however, must vote in person."

of the legislature to $3,650 annually.

"The Senator shouldn't make that kind of statement as it will go out to all the newspapers in the state and give the wrong impression to those who do not really know. After all we have been spending many hours in committee work," Jesse Martin of Fort Worth asserted.

Accepts Responsibility

"I am prefectly willing to accept the responsibility for the statement," Morris replied.

After a brief flurry Morris accepted two amendments by R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro to pay the maintenance of the program amounting to $275,000 for the biennium out of the available school fund instead of the general fud. The vote on final pasage was 26 to 0.

A warning that at the present rate of appropriating the state's general fund is in danger of getting back into the red came today from Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Answering questions at his press conference, Stevenson said that it appears the legislature is going to have either to vote out new tax bills raising additional revenue, or "be back on a deficit before adjournment.

Trying Find Oout Things

Meanwhile a subcommittee of the House revenue and taxation committee went to work on the task of determining how much money Texas has, and how much more it might need.

Stevenson noted that the 49th legislature thus far has increased potential appropriations $20,000,000 annually as compared with current appropriations. No tax bills have emerged from committee. In the appropriating measures thus far approved only one provides for increased revenue. That is the bill under which the state automatic tax board is required to levy the maximum 35 cent per $100 valuation for schools. A companion bill provides for complete distribution of available school funds every year.

Will Not Veto

Stevenson, noting that only 12 members of the House voted for recall of these measures from his desk, said he would not veto them. In his estimate of increases, he figured the $4,500,000 increase in rural aid, voted by the Senate but not yet passed by the House. He also included the $3,600,000 annual increase for old age assistance.

Under terms of the so-called "pay - as-you-go" constitutional amendment under which the current legislature is operating, appropriations in excess of revenue or anticipated revenue may not be made except upon a four-fifths vote. The legislature still has to consider its major appropriation bills, and they all will call for increases.

Committee Policy

The House committee on revenue and taxation has followed the policy this session thus far of hearing tax bills, but laying them aside pending determination of what new revenues might be needed. The committee last night instructed its subcommittee to study this subject and report next week.

This information, to be compiled by Reps. H. A. Hull of Fort Worth, C. E. Nicholson of Port Arthur and L. L. Duckett of East Bernard, is important. From it the revenue and taxation committee may determine what new or increased tax measures it shall recommend to the House.

The committee has been hearing tax bills but withholding action on them until it determines how much new money might be needed to meet appropriations which are on an upward trend. Appropriations are on the upgrade because state revenues, swelled by war conditions are bigger than ever.

When a reverse trend may set in no one knows and this is the element in the state's financial picture which the committee will attempt to forecast as accurately as possible.

Finance Bills

While work on big appropriation and revenue bills remained centered in committees, House and Senate continued floor work on numerous other measures.

With only one slight alteration the House late yesterday approved a Senate joint resolution submitting a constitutional amendment for a nine-judge elective Supreme Court for Texas.

The resolution which was sent back to the Senate for consideration of the House amendment submits the proposal to the electorate next Aug. 25. The House amendment stipulated that salaries of the court judges should be set by the legislature. As approved in the Senate, salaries were $10,000 annually.

Nine Members

The Supreme Court now consists of three elective justices and six appointive commissioners of appeals whose decisions are subject to approval of the Justices. The proposed constitutional amendment would let the present Judges continue as such until the expiration of their elective terms and the commissioners would become Associate Justices until the expiration of their appointive terms.

The House also passed to third and final readings by a vote of 83 to 49 a House bill creating a state aeronautics commission which would have no regulatory power but would be the agent for the state and municipalities in developing aviation facilities, including airports, with the assistance of Federal funds which might become available.

Heading toward the House calendar with approval of the state affairs committee was a bill by Reps Cecil Barnes of San Angelo and Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba permitting summary sale of property by taxing units if taxes are delinquent three years and providing a two-year redemption period at maximum penalty payment of 30 per cent.

The same committee:

Approved a bill declaring that the salary of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be fixed at between $7,000 and $10,000 annually. It now is $5,000.

Killed a concurrent resolution by Rep C. M. McFarland of Wichita Falls proposing appointment of a 21 member joint legislative committee to draft for the next session of the legislature a proposed new constitution for submission to the people.

Utility Rates Bill

Killed a bill by Rep. Dan Kirby of El Paso giving the state authority to fix utility rates and determine what would be a fair return. All return in excess of what was determined to be fair would be distributed among the utility's consumers.

The House appropriations committee favorably reported a judiciary appropriations bill authorizing expenditure of $2,224,285 annually for the next biennium, an increase of $106,557 over budget recommendations by the board of control.

The banks and banking committee of the House killed a bill by Rep. Joe Harris of Houston prohibiting non-par banks from charging any fee for collection from itself of any draft.

Public Hearing Ordered

AUSTIN, March 29.—(AP)—The house state affairs committee has ordered a public hearing April 9 (7:30 p.m.) on a bill by Rep. Tom Deen of Floydada making it illegal for women and girls to be employed in establishments selling intoxicating bevrages at retail.

Good Neighbor Commission

AUSTIN, March 29.—(AP)—Unanimously approved by the house state affairs committee last night was a bill by Rep. A. J. Vale of Rio Grande City giving legal status of Texas' good neighbor commission.

The commission, created two years ago by the resolution, seeks to better understanding among the peoples of the Americas.

The Vale bill was ruled out on a point of order in the house recently when it was offered as a substitute for a bill setting up penalties for conviction of discrimination against persons of Latin-American origin. This ruling did not prevent introduction of the bill as an original measure. Vale said he would seek early house consideration of the newly intrduced bill.

STORMS

W. C. Davidson, 35, severe cuts, bruises and shock; Mary, their 18-months-old daughter, and a son, W. C. Davidson, Jr., 3, facial cuts and body bruises; Mrs. Stieffer 30, broken foot and head cuts; Harold Stieffer, severe facial cuts.

Bill Edwards, his wife and small child were injured in the twister which hit a 300-yard area one mile East of Wills Point about 7 p. m. yesterday (Wednesday). The wind was accompanied by a torrential rain and lightning.

Edwards said he went into the bedroom to get the child after the storm had broken a window pane. He said the wind lifted a mattress off the bed and it struck him knocking him down. The three were hospitalized.

Rains Continuing

Heavy rains were continuing today at Sulphur Springs. All roads were closed by 11:30 last night. Creeks in the area were out of banks and flooding lowlands.

A torrential rain and hail storm struck Dallas early today and streets were flooded with water within a few minutes.

Tyler was without telephone communications for about two hours last night due to a wind and rain storm. Some damage was reported from wind and rain.

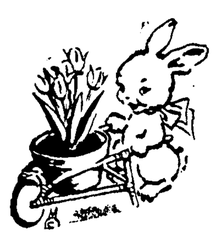

Because of unusually heavy rains since early this morning, the Dallas weather bureau issued a warning to remove all livestock from the lowlands in the upper Trinity River area.

The bureau said heavy rains will cause the upper Trinity and its tributaries to rise at a rapid rate and a wide overflow is expected.

installations on Kyushu island to naval base on Honshu and ground day in the third consecutive day of air raids on Southern Japan.

Other broadcasts said 60 planes presumably from the Philippines, bombed military facilities on Formosa and 20 India-based Superforts attacked Singapore.

American infantrymen captured semi-destroyed Cebu, second largest city in the Philippines, and 11 other nearby towns. British forces reportedly broke Japanese resistance in Central Burma. Nipponese commanders sent a column driving to within 25 miles of the major U. S. air base in North China and reportedly rushed 300,000 manchurian puppet soldiers into North Manchuria to meet a possible Russian invasion.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz broke his silence about fleet action Sunday—the day Tokyo insists the Kerama Islands were invaded. He announced that in three days beginning Sunday carrier planes sweeping the length of the 700 mile long Ryukyu Islands damaged 17 Nipponese ships, wrecked numerous small craft, wiped out 38 planes, battered submarine pens at Unten Bay on the west coast of Okinawa, and attacked all types of shore installations including gun positions. "Some of our units" he said, were damaged.

Take Heavy Toll.

In ten days the Pacific fleet has sunk or damaged 57 ships, 819 aircraft, while three of its ships have been seriously damaged and an unspecified number less seriously hurt.

The enemy's claim of American ships hit included damage assertedly done by "surface units." This might mean the reluctant imperial navy had come out to fight, but more likely referred to torpedo boat attacks.

Admiral Nimitz said naval bombardments continued yesterday. The imperial communique indicated they were still underway today, centered on Tkinawa, largest and most strategic island of the chain. Delayed press dispatches said battleships methodically had pounded southern beaches of Okinawa, further indication that it was on invasion target.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of army air forces, said Superfort raids would be doubled or tripled within three months. That means flights of between 600 to 1,000 B-29s will be hitting Japan this summer.

In the Philippines the American division, fighting its way through the mined streets of Cebu, found the harbor area almost intact although Japanese demolitionists had dont a thorough job of datroying the heart of the city. One midget submarine was destroyed in a flotilla that forces U. S. ships to withdraw overnight.

Philippines based bombers destroyed seven and damaged 17 Japanese freighters off the China and Indo-China coasts.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said resistance in Southern Luzon was "disconnected and sporadic" but still strong in the north.

The British reported 30,000 Japanese failed to batter their way through an armored ring south of Mandalay.

MRS. J. L. DAVIDSON, LIFELONG RESIDENT OF COUNTY, BURIED

Mrs. J. L. Davidson, aged 72 years life-long resident of Navarro county, died at her home, 1560 West Fifth avenue, Monday evening.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, of which she was long a prominent member. Burial was in the Eureka cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. Andrew Byers, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Davidson was reared in the Eureka community, and resided there until the family moved to Corsicana 24 years ago.

Surviving are three sons, W. M. Davidson and Robert Davidson, both of Corsicana, and Harold M. Davidson, Talco; a daughter, Mrs. Naomi Blaize, Dallas; four grandchildren, and a brother, Whitney Montgomery, Dallas.

Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home directed.

Pallbearers were John C. Hughes, John H. Sullivan, Jack Paul, N. Suttle Roberts, Otis M. Rector and Robert R. Cocke.

CAPT. R. R. PEASE IS NOW STATIONED SOMEWHERE FRANCE

WITH THE U. S. SERVICE FORCES in France.—Chief clerk for General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, from 1935 to 1938, when the general became military advisor to the Philippines Commonwealth, Capt. Roosevelt R. Pease is now adjutant general for the 27th Regulating Station in France.

Capt. Pease, whose family have been in the Regular Army for generations, has been in the Army for nearly 23 years, entering the service in June 1922. A Master sergeant with the Coast Artillery for 16 years, Capt. Pease served in Panama for three years before going to the Philippines.

While in the Philippines, he met his wife, Mrs. Franke Pease, an Army nurse visiting Manila and returned to the United States to marry her in 1938. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the infantry in April 1941 and later assigned to the 27th Regulating Station. He came overseas in October 1944 and is at present acting as commanding officer of a detachment of the 27th helping to operate a large marshalling yards in France.

Mrs. Pease is living at 627 West Collin street, Corsicana, Texas.

Dr. Sam Whitley Urges Purchase Of Easter Seals

COMMERCE, March 29.—(Spl.)—Dr. Sam Whitley, president of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, this week reminded Texans that it is not too late to send in contributions for the annual Easter Sale sale. Funds received during the Easter season are used for a year-round program of rehabilitation of Texas' crippled children.

"The Easter season was selected to enlist the support of more fortunate citizens because Easter means resurrection and new life," Dr. Whitney said. "And certainly the rehabilitation of crippled children means new life and activity, physically, mentally and spiritually."

Response to the 1945 Easter Seal appeal promises to furnish greater aid than ever to the handicapped youngsters in need of medical care, equipment such as wheel chairs and crutches and education, the president pointed out. But the need of rehabilitation of these crippled children is greater than ever now when the state and country must prepare every child to take the place of some youth who has given his life for his country. Many a helpless cripple today, through medical and educational opportunities, will become a useful citizen of tomorrow, he said.

The current appeal is the twelfth annual Easter Seal sale. Texans are urged to buy the seals and use them on all of their correspondence.

Announce Holiday At Public Schools

Good Friday, March 30, and Monday will be observed as holidays and the public schools in Corsicana will be dismissed on both days, W. H. Norwood, superintendent of schools, has announced. Norwood said that Good Friday was designated as a school holiday by the board of education. He said that the board also designated an additional holiday to be given during the year. The board specified that if the holiday was not used at any other time it was to be taken on the Monday after Easter. It is in keeping with the board's regulations that Monday is being given as a holiday, Norwood said.

Wayne Craddock Named President Of City Teachers

Wayne Craddock was elected president of the Corsicana Teachers Association in a regular meeting of the organization at Corsicana High School on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Gertrude Russell, president, presiding. Following a report of Miss Aileen Carraway, chairman of the nominating committee, officers elected to serve with Mr. Craddock for the ensuing year were Miss Alma Armstrong, first vice-president; Miss Mayme Moore, second vice-president; Miss Ell Louise Mathis, secretary-treasurer.

County Superintendent J. C. Watson, speaker for the afternoon reviewed pending legislation stressing the four bill's importance to the Texas Public Schools.

First he presented details of the bill, now ready to be signed, which will provide for the apportionment of $30 per capita.

Second, he discussed the bill whose object is to separate the distribution of free text books from the State Department of Education.

Third, he brought facts on the bill that provides for the election of nine members of the State Board of Education, and the appointment of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Fourth, he discussed the equalization bill which includes the questions, Who is eligible, and what salary schedule should be maintained.

Invited to Hear Speaker.

W. H. Norwood, Superintendent of Corsicana Public Schools, introduced W. H. Smith, representative of the American Legion, who invited members of the Association to hear Col. Perry Brown at an open forum on Universal Conscription, which will be held at Junior High School on Thursday evening.

Supt. Norwood spoke on the meaning of the equalization bill to the future of independent schools. If the minimum and maximum salaries are placed so high that the independent districts cannot meet them, it will become imperative for larger schools to ask for State aid, he pointed out. He expressed the opinion that a better plan would be to raise the per capita apportionment.

In conclusion, Supt. Norwood expressed appreciation of the teacher's contributions to the success of the school year, 1944-45.

Sick and Convalescent.

P. and S. Hospital:

Tim Anderson, Corsicana, Route 1, is a medical patient.

ACCOUSTIC PLASTER ODESSA THEATRE FELL INJURING SEVERAL

ODESSA, March 29.—(AP)—At least 10 persons were injured last night when acoustic plaster fell from the ceiling of an Odessa theater while the packed house watched a motion picture.

None was seriously injured, but those hurt were given emergency treatment at local hospitals.

The Odessa American said the ceiling collapse resulted in a panic as theater patrons scrambled for safety. The plaster started falling near the screen and continued toward the front of the theater. About twelve persons who ran toward the screen were rescued by firemen who chopped down emergency doors. One of the victims told a reporter for the American that no one knew at first what was happening.

"It sounded like an earthquake," he said. "Then the plaster started falling. The din was terrific and the air thick with dust of falling material. Many women screamed and children cried. Personal belongings and purses were lost in the panic."

Chief of Police Carl Taylor said he was making an investigation.

SEVERAL MAJOR CLUB OWNERS FACED WITH HOLDOUT TROUBLES

FRED WALKER OF DODGERS IS BIGGEST NAME HOLDOUT ON LIST

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—With the major league season less than three weeks off, several clubs owners still are faced with holdout problems.

What is probably the biggest name-holdout of them all is Fred (Dixie) Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers, National league batting king, who is demanding a reported $22,500, an increase of approximately $8,500 over what he was paid last year.

President Branch Rickey appears as determined as Walker not to yield, with the result that Dixie may still be in his Birmingham, Ala., home when the season opens April 17.

Training camp notes:

St. Louis Browns—First Baseman George McQuinn was truck on the knee by a ground ball and taken to a hospital for X-ray examination.

Pitcher Jack Kramer last of the holdouts, agreed to terms.

Chicago White Sox—Bill Dietrich who won 16 games for the White Sox last year, and Earl Caldwell, 19-game winner purchased from Milwaukee, reported to Manager Jimmy Dykes yesterday to make 31 players in camp.

Cleveand Indians—Pitcher Red Embree joined squad but Ambrose Palica said he expected an army call soon.

Pittsburgh Pirates—Described in best physical shape since they started training in north three years ago. Bucs beat Muncie semi-pro nine 11-0.

Yanks to Meet Red Sox.

New York Yankees—Manager Joe McCarthy announced that Pitchers Walter Dubiel, Allen Gettel and Floyd Bevens wil face Red Sox today.

New York Giants—Curtis Bay Coast Guard earned even spit in two-game series winning second contest 15-10.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Trade of Second Baseman Barney Koch to Montreal for Pitcher Vic Lombardi followed on heels of Whitlow Wyatt sale.

Boston Red Sox—Rex Cecil and Francis Barrett will share mound duty in the opener of nine-game series with Yankees.

Detroit Tigers—Manager Steve O'Neill indicated he could choose either Hal Newhouser or Paul (Dizzy) Trout to hurl the season's opener against St. Louis.

Washington Senators—Two runs in ninth gave Senators 2-0 victory over Braves.

Philadelphia Phillies—Hap Morse minor league veteran mho managed Dallas for five years, signed as a scout.

Philadelphia Athletics — Connie Mack again reads riot act to team on keeping in condition.

The Woman's Council of the First Christian church will meet in missionary session at the home of Mrs. W. M. Forester on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Mesdames W. H. Steely and W. E. Bragg as co-hostesses and Mrs. J. S. Finch, Jr., as leader.

KILLED IN ACTION—Pvt. Vernon L. Richardson, 27, U. S. Army, Infantry, previously reported missing in action, was killed in action in Germany December 5, according to information from the War Department received by his wife, Mrs. Clydie M. Richardson, 513 West Tenth avenue. Entering the service April 6, 1944, he has been overseas since August 28, 1944. Survivors in addition to his wife include three children, Alvin, age 5; Joe, 3, and Peggy, 2; his mother, Mrs. Maggie Richardson, 645 West Fourth avenue. Before entering the service Richardson was employed by the American Well and Prospecting Company.

LOS ANGELES HIGH SCHOOL COACH NAMED COACH FOR UCLA

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP)—Bert F. La Brucherie, Los Angeles high school coach, last night was appointed football coach at University of California at Los Angeles, succeeding Edwin C. (Babe) Horrell, who resigned March 1.

The UCLA board of athletic control unanimously voted La Brucherie a three-year contract after a four and one-half hour meeting, said William Ackerman, graduate manager. The salary was not announced.

La Brucherie, Ackerman announced, was selected from a field of candidates which had been narrowed to four. The others were Ray F. Richards, UCLA line coach; Clark Shaughnessy, former Stanford coach now at Pittsburgh, and Homer Norton, coach at Texas A. and M.

La Brucherie, 40, returns to the school for which he starred at halfback in 1926, 1927 and 1928. He brings with him one of the brightest high school coaching records ever compiled in Southern California. He was at Los Angeles high school 16 years.

Horrell was appointed head coach in 1939 after coaching the Bruin line for 10 years. In his six years at the helm, UCLA won 25, lost 31 and tied five games.

Sgt. Hal Faughn who has been stationed at Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, has been transferred to Lowry Field, Denver, Colo. Mrs. Faughn spent the week-end with her husband in San Angelo, and accompanied him as far as Chillicothe en route to his new assignment.

EASTER MOOD GROWS DEEPER AS CASUALTY LIST INCREASES*

"If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?"—The Resurrection Hope Sustains the Bereaved, And Gives Long Objective To Life—A Universal Hope

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In the days of Russia's militant atheism, two anti-God missionaries had finished their harangue to a village, and then asked if there was any rebuttal. At once a young priest stepped forward wth the familiar Easter cry, "Christ is risen"

As one man, the villagers responded, "He is risen indeed!"

Those simple Christians and their leader had gone to the root of religion. The essence of their faith, and of ours, is that Jesus Christ was crucified, buried, and rose again. Without the resurrection there is no Gospel. If He did not rise again, as He had predicted, Jesus was only a self-deluded imposter, leaving His beautiful teachings and deeds without power of persistence.

No honest mind can pursue the New Testament without perceiving that the resurrection truth is basic to Christianity.

The Casualty Lists

In the ordinary course of things, the hope of life after death is general. But in these days of war it becomes a paramount interest. Literally millions of persons in the United States and Canada are bereaved by war's casualties. There is comfort in the consciousness that our dear ones died for Country and Cause; and that they did not "lose their lives" but gave them; but, nevertheless, the broken circles of family and of friendship remain. Parents are sonless; children are fatherless, wives are widowed, and friends walk in loneliness and grief. Never again shall we look upon the faces of our beloved; and night and day we long, "for the touch of vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still."

To all the countless company that mourn (and we may not forget the many millions dead in Europe and Asia), the day's supreme interest is the truth of the resurrection. Unbelief and indifference both fade away before the ancient question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" Are we to be reunited with our dear dead in a better world? As there are "no atheists in fox-holes," so there is no unbelief at the memory of war's dead.

In the midst of Russia's anti-God campaign, Joseph Stalin's wife died. He buried her by the rites of the Church. A famous American philosopher was sowing unbelief amidst the students of Asia when his wife died. A man who helped carry out the funeral arrangements told me that the professor selected hymns of Christian faith and pertinent Scriptures: there was no echo of the husband's atheism in that Christian burial.

Light From the Grave

Every person of wide experience must nave noted that when even the most "modern" preacher stands beside a bier he qoutes the Bible's great affirmations of resurrection. We are all orthodox at the grave. Without the light of eternal day our hearts would be in darkness. It took the radiance streaming from the open tomb of Jesus to give light and power to His despairing friends. And the Gospel that they went forth to preach was of a Saviour risen from the dead, to assure eternal hope to His disciples. All of the new life of the Christian was predicated upon the truth of the resurrection.

Now, in an hour of universal grief, the world is celebrating Easter the year's great festival of gladness, in the most sober mood it has experienced in generations. The grim reality of tragic death has touched practically every community. Our thoughts are perforce of those who have experienced life's final adventure. The one clear guarantee that we shall some day be reunited with them in eternal bliss is the resurrection of Jesus, who proved that life is stronger than death.

Yesterday I had dinner with a fine woman whose noble husband died two weeks ago. Was she draped in mourning, and wearing a woe-smitten face? Not at all Her religion has been put to the extreme test, and she has met it with poise and peace. Her husband's and her own lifetime of faith have been vindicated.

The Site of the Tomb

One memorable Easter morning Milady and I spent on a roof-top on the northern wall of Jerusalem, overlooking "The Garden Tomb". We waited for the first rays of the sun to rise over the Mount of Olives, and to touch the towers of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, which is locally called "The Church of the Resurrection." The older Churches believe that within these walls lies the site of the Saviour's tomb, and the latest scholarship appears to confirm this; although many Protestants contend that the simple "Garden Tomb," beneath "Gordon's Calvary," is the more probable site.

That morning's experience was unforgettable, as we stood within sight of all the events of the last week of the life of Jesus. As daylight dawned, a company of Christians gathered in the Garden. But my spirit kept answering their allusions to the identity of this grave-site with the Scripture's words. "He is not here, for He is risen." Not an empty tomb, but a living Christ is our hope, for our dear dead and for ourselves.

Man of War Is 28

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 29—(AP)—Twenty-eight years is a long life for a horse, but Man O'War, most famous horse in American turf history, reached the 28th milestone today in his now plutocratic life. Big Red retired from racing 25 years ago after 20 turf victories in 21 starts. A frisky fellow still, he leads a well-regulated but easy life at Samuel D. Riddle's Faraway farm.

Miss Dorothy King was a member of the general arrangements committee for the recent annual social carnival at North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

Wolfe's New Berry Gets Big Boost

A new Texas plant is getting unusual attention and creating sensational interest all over the United States. More than 60 official State and Federal Experiment Stations have already arranged to test the new Rossberry that was recently introduced by a Texas Horticulturis, Ross R Wolfe, of Stephenville, Texas. These experiment stations include internationally recognized horticulture stations like Geneva N Y, South Haven, Michigan, and Berkley, California, and other stations representing complete coverage of every state in the Union.

The Rossberry was created by the famed Luther Burbank, but due to unfinished business in other fields of endeavor he never got around to giving it the time he desired Discovered in the hills of Arkansas by Ross R Wolfe of Wolfe's Nursery, it has brought sensational and widespread attention. In recent weeks hundreds of Texas people have planted it in gardens, on paling fences, trellises, and other places where the prolific growth of the vine shows to best advantage.

"I have never offered any new plant that I believe has more possibilities than the Rossberry," said Wolfe. "I believe in all sincerity that the results of official experiment stations will prove its merit, not only as a lucious berry but also as a beautiful vine."

WOUNDED ON LUZON — Pvt. Thomas F. Robinson, Jr., 29, First Cavalry Division, was wounded in action February 20, on Luzon in the Philippine invasion, according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Robinson, Corsicana route four. He has been awarded the Purple Heart Decoration. Volunteering for service in July 1940, and receiving training at Camp Clark and Ft. Bliss, he has been overseas since May 1943. Robinson had participated in a number of major engagements in the Pacific area prior to the Philippine invasion. He attended school at Mildred and Corsicana.

Large Amount Money Found By Soldier

One of the most novel experiences of the present conflict is related in the Feburary 25 issue of the "Daily Guinea Pig," serviceman's publication in the Pacific area.

Pfc. Lew Zarillo, Long Island, N. Y., former coffee salesman, discovered an unearthed cache of a half million dollars in American, Filipino and Chinese silver coins alongside a road while fighting with the 33rd Division on Luzon, according to the "Guinea Pig," but the Nips were making it so hot and interesting that he could not remain at the site and the Americans could not send a guard to the find.

Zarillo was quoted as saying he was knee deep in money and could do nothing about it.

The money, according to the story, had been buried by the Japanese—stolen from Filipino banks. A big shell uncovered the store, as well as melting some of it, and the Americans sent trucks to the cache and hauled the precious metal away the next day.

Pfc. J. C. Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Collier, West Thirteenth avenue, and Pfc. Leonard A. Watkins, husband of Mrs. L. A. Watkins, 1300 block, West Sixth avenue, are in the infantry of the 33rd (Golden Cross) Division. The 33rd Division formerly was principally composed of Illinois National Guard units. It has seen action in various sectors of

"HOUR OF SUCCESS" IS NEAR CHURCHILL ASSERTS IN LETTER

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill asserted today that the "hour of success" was near.

His prediction came in a letter endorsing a liberal candidate for commons in a special election to fill a vacancy.

"The endurance of the British people and the steadfast devotion of the fighting services have at last brought us near the hour of success," he wrote.

"Let us now prepare to make sure for the sake of our country, our empire and civilization that we reap the due and just rewards of victory.

"That end will best be served by maintaining unity of effort and of purpose."

The letter was addressed to Ronald M. Munro, who is a candidate to represent the Scottish universities in parliament and has the support of the Churchill coalition government.

Ground Hog Killed In City Park By Park Policeman

A ground hog (woodchuck) was killed by Harve Farmer, park policeman, in the southwestern part of the city park, according to A. W. Ray, employee of an oil company, who resides nearby Mr. Ray brought the rare animal to the Sun office where it caused considerable attention among passers-by and many guesses were made as to its identity.

Mr. Ray also said that a four-foot rattlesnake was killed in the same vicinity Monday.

The animal was found in a thick bunch of shrubs.

Miss Eva Williams, assistant Navarro county home demonstration agent, attended a sub-district training school in Waxahachie Tuesday. About a dozen counties were to be represented.

Bill Turner, formerly of the Merchant Marine Cadet Corps in San Francisco, Calif., has arrived home for a nine-day visit with his mother, Mrs. Frances Turner, while awaiting another assignment.

IN FRANCE—Pfc. Clennon A. (Shine) Rash, 25, U. S. Army, Infantry, is now somewhere in France, according to information received by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Rash, and eight-months old daughter, Patricia Ann, 513 East Eleventh avenue. Entering the service September 11, 1944, he trained at Camp Robinson, Ark. He is the son of Mrs. L. D. Rash, 218 East Ninth avenue.

Pfc. Albert H. Schwartz has been transferred from headquarters of the Prisoner of War Camp at Mexia to the sub-camp in Corsicana, and he and Mrs. Schwartz will reside temporarily at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Highnote.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUTH

ASTRP Qualifying Test - April 12, 1945

YOUNG MEN who are eligible will be given the opportunity of joining the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program by taking the ASTRP qualifying test to be given in high schools and colleges throughout the country April 12.

You will get college training at no expense to yourself, because it's to the Army's advantage as well as yours. When you get out of the Army you'll be ahead of the game with several terms of college already completed as an ASTRP trainee. The Army pays your tuition and furnishes food, clothing, housing, textbooks, and medical care. You will have only small personal expenses for laundry and incidentals.

To join the ASTRP for assignment to college in July, August, or September of this year, you must be seventeen but not yet seventeen years and nine months of age; must be a citizen; must be a high school graduate or have written proof that you will be graduated before becoming seventeen years and nine months of age; must achieve a qualifying score on the ASTRP test; must have the written consent of your parents; and must become a member of the Enlisted Reserve Corps. You will not be called for active duty until you reach your eighteenth birthday.

For complete information on your golden opportunity with the ASTRP, see your high school principal, visit your nearest Army Recruiting Station, or write the Commanding General of the Service Command in which you live.

CORSICANA, TEX., MAR. 30,1945

BERLIN

The great city of Berlin suffers the same fate as Tokyo. It is a tragic Tale of Two Cities that will be remembered and told through the ages.

Of the two, it may be said that Berlin and the race that built it were the more reprehensible, because they were more intelligent than the Japanese, and had enjoyed the benefits of modern civilization for a much longer time. From Germany, too, sprang many good and great men, some of whom are still lamps to modern life.

The German nation must now bear the terrible responsibility of knowing the right and choosing the wrong. It entered upon a career of wickedness and destruction which, if undertaken by any mere individual in the civilized world, would have incurred the penalty of death.

And so this Germany will die—not completely, by the death of all its people in one great execution, but in the limitations of its future. Never again can such a potential danger to civilization be allowed to grow strong.

To this end, wise men say that for perhaps a hundred years Germany must be kept under control by wiser and more civilized nations.

RECONSTRUCTION MONEY

Some people seem to have indulged in needless worry about financing the reconstruction period after this war era. The Mortgage Bankers Association of America has just been assured by L. E. Mahan of St. Louis, who is president of the Association, that private enterprise in the field will need no federal subsidy, but can go ahead under its own steam. He finds that all kinds of mortgage lending companies, banks, and other investors, will be able and eager to carry the load.

He adds that there need be no worry about the interest rates. He doesn't believe that lower rates will be needed to stimulate building, and insists that the cost of carryinng a four and one-half per cent mortgage, as compared with a three and one-half per cent interest rate, is so slight that it will hardly affect the real estate market at all.

This is a debatable question; but at least it is reasonably sure that there will be a big up-surge of building activity when peace returns. And Mr. Mahan forecasts that there will be at least ten and one-half billion dollars ready to go into mortgage investments when the war ends.

LESS CLASS DIVISION

Class lines in the United States which a few years ago seemed to be growing sharper are becoming blurred. This deduction comes from the Gallup poll's analysis of last fall's vote.

President Roosevelt, as everybody knows, is bitterly opposed by many business men, but is popular with labor. Yet the Gallup figures show both classes giving substantial support to both parties, and growing more alike in their thinking.

Business, for instance, if you believe all you hear, is almost unanimously against the president. Yet in 1940, running against a well-known business man, he got 34 per cent of the business vote, and in 1944, despite objections to the fourth term, his share went up to 41 per cent. His support among the professional classes likewise increased from 38 per cent in 1940 to 42 per cent in 1944. Of the white collar workers 51 per cent voted for him last fall, as against 48 per cent four years earlier.

Labor, on the other hand, shows a contrary tendency. Where 66 per cent of all workers voted Democratic in 1940, the number fell in 1944 to 62 per cent.

HITLER LOOKS AHEAD

Germany, which laid waste the resources of the countries around her, isn't doing that with her own. John MacCormac, writing in the New York Times, says that, contrary to expectations, the retreating Nazis are leaving many factories in the Rhineland untouched. Often they issue instructions that the employes shall "continue to keep the plant going and act under the orders of anyone who may come."

Perhaps Germany is still hoping to save as much of her industrial plant as possible, to prepare for the next war. It is believed that the Crimean Conference decision, that her war industries might be "controlled" as an alternative to destruction, is a factor in the new policy. Further indication of such hope is the sudden rush to transfer valuable German patents to Swedish registry.

But the final success of the policy is dubious. For the Allies are determined that never again shall German factories make machines for war, in any manner.

GATHERING HISTORY

A new activity for a public library is the creation of a historical society. The Cleveland Public Library, situated in one of the Great Lakes' largest cities, has found it hard to get desired information about the lakes, their past, their commerce their ships and the men who sailed them. Hence the formation of the Great Lakes Historical Society, a non-profit organization, under the library's auspices. The first number of its illustrated quarterly, "Inland Seas," has just appeared.

After all, why should not libraries do this? They are repositories of knowledge; they might properly also help to gather it. Each community library should gather what local historical material it can, and call in all possible outside helpers. A historical society, even if on a very modest scale, should be on the program of any live town. If no one else undertakes its organization, the job might well be undertaken by the local library.

Quotation from future dictionaries: BUTTER: A condiment once used on bread, now obsolete. Its precise nature is no known.

As for De Gaulle's upstage work, prima donnas have their value, especially to the French.

It's a queer war that drives out the foxes and takes over their holes.

EUROPEAN WAR

storied university city six miles away from the Seventh. Hamm was 24 miles from the Ruhr front and Dortmund, 19.

Hodges' armor at Amoeneburg was 95 miles southeast of Muenster, in a position to throw an iron ring around the outflanked Ruhr basin and trap its defenders.

First Army Advance.

The First army had pierced Beilnhausen, 73 miles east of the Rhine, in a swift advance from Giessen. It seemed likely that the First and Third had joined in the area, closing a huge sack on Germans trapped in the rear, after bursting through all fixed defense lines.

Russian troops scored successes on the northern and southern ends of the long eastern front, while according to Moscow, the Russian supply system worked to prepare for the spring offensive on the central front toward the heart of Germany, where the nazis have reported Red forces across the Oder due east of the capital. Soviet forces of the Second and Third Ukraine armies cracked Danube valley defenses and reached the Austrian frontier which is 38 miles from Vienna. On the Baltic in the north other troops had occupied Gdynia, Polish naval base, and entered Danzig, ten miles southeast.

Frankfurt Almost Cleared.

Hodges' troops were 152 miles west of Leipzig, Germany's fifth city, and 255 from Russian lines. Patton's men had all but cleared Frankfurt on the Main. The Fourth armored division crashed along the Frunkfurt-Leipzig highway.

The Germans have lost 262,000 as prisoners in the west since the first of March. Added to killed and wounded, this was equivalent to a division a day for a month. Of the million or more nazis now on the West Front, it was considered doubtful that more than 260,000 were of a front-line combat caliber.

100,000 Surrender to Seven.

While British and Americans plunged swiftly into North Central Germany on the highroad to Muenster and Berlin, U. S. Ninth army troops behind them entered Duisburg, reported exacuated by the Germans. A field report said 100,000 civilians remaining in the great Ruhr city on the Rhine surrendered to just seven American soldiers.

Far to the south the U. S. Seventh army jabbed 34 miles east of the Rhine and joined elements of the Third at the Main south of Aschaffenberg. The northern section of Mannheim was cleared.

Patton's army, also under a news blackout, was reported to have been joined by a strong armored column from the First army, uniting the two armies in a powerful front for the drive towad Berlin. The Third's 4th armored division has reached Gruenberk, 14 miles east of Giessen in a 19-mile advance, afte the two armies linked in three places west of Frankfurt. Hanau and Aschaffenberg were captured.

In Italy, the Germans attacked British positions six miles north of the Bologna-Rimini highway stronghold of Faenza and were repulsed. The rest of the Italian front was quiet.

Russians Storm Nitra River.

Russian troops have stormed to the Nitra river in a 25-mile advance from the Hron in Slovakia, the German high command said today. The drive is aimed at Bratislava, to the southwest, as the right wing of a giant pincers against the Vienna area.

From the other side, tank units of the Third Ukraine army, smashing from Csorna, captured rail junction eight miles beyond the Raba river, hammered at Chamhagen, 39 miles southeast of Vienna, and at positions near the Danube only 21 miles from Bratislava.

The second Ukraine army moved along the southern side of the Danube toward Bratislava from the Gyor area, in good tank country 365 miles from the American front at Aschaffenburg. Soviet bombers and fighters were out in force in support of the troops.

Fall of Two Points Told.

Fall of Gyor and Komarom, the latter 20 miles east of Gyor on the Danube and a German strongpoint, was announced yesterday by Marshal Stalin. The victories shattered the Bratislava Gap defenses. Twenty miles northwest of Gyor, the Russians pounded the defenses of Moson.

Bad weather halted last night a record series of British and American raids on Berlin, which had continued 36 nights. The offensive against the ruhhled German capital included a number of double-header night attacks since Feb. 20 and four heavy daylight raids. The 45 brought to 75,000 tons the total bomb-weight dropped on Berlin since the start of the war.

Weather continued bad during the day.

Italian Front Relatively Quiet

ROME, March 29.—(AP)—A German attack on Eighth army positions near Cotignola, six miles north of Bologna-Rimini highway stronghold of Faenza, was repulsed yesterday as the rest of the Italian front remained relatively quiet.

Rain restricted visibility on the Fifth army front to the southwest. There was scattered Nazi artillery fire in the forward areas of this front, with patrol clashes reported in the sector south of Bologna.

On the Fifth army's extreme left flank in the coastal sector an Allied combat patrol ran into heavy German defensive fire and was forced to withdraw.

A naval communique reported new shelling of enemy positions on the French-Italian border during the week in which French and British destroyers participated.

Gathering Technical Staff

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—The Allies have started gathering a technical and scientific staff to speed the disarmament of Germany and dismantling of nazi war factories, it was disclosed in commans today.

ZURICH, Switzerland, March 29—(AP)—Most leading Nazi officials have left their posts and retired to an Alpine hideout, the newspaper La Suisse reported today in a dispatch from the German frontier.

Berlin Night Raid Skipped.

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—A record series of night raids on Berlin was broken at 36 straight last night as weather grounded the RAF's hard-hitting Mosquito bombers for the first time since February 20.

During this period the Nazi capitol was subjected to 45 attacks, including several nocturnal double-headers and four daylight raids by American heavy bombers.

Prisoner Bag of Seventh Army.

U. S. SEVENTH ARMY, Germany, March 29.—(AP)—The Seventh Army is estimated to have captured 175,000 prisoners since it landed last summer on the Riviera in Southern France.

Some 1,400 were captured east of the Rhine yesterday as the Seventh Army threw an arc around Mannheim and won its northern suburbs. Another 700 stragglers were caged west of the Rhine.

The 45th (Thunderbird) Division—the Texas and Oklahoma National Guard—was fighting through the Dieburgermarks Woods after pushing through Groskiein and Zimmerns and apparently throwing a left hook through a valley between heavily forested hills in a drive to the Main river, which other Seventh Army troops crossed.

Baruch in London.

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—Bernard M Baruch, advisor to President Roosevelt ,arrived in London today with extectations of an immediate conference with Prime Minister Churchill.

It was understood that part of his mission would be devoted to a discussion of the occupation and economic future of Germany.

Negro Health Week Is Being Observed

Local negro citizens are co-operating in the observance of National Negro Health Week, April 1-8 and Corsicana-Navarro county health department personnel Monday night showed motion pictures relative to veneral diseases and flies, rats and mosquitos at a mass meeting in Jackson High school auditorium when approximately 500 attended.

Sanitation and health talks are carded to be given in the local negro schools April 4. The shows seen here Monday night are to be shown in county negro schools later in th week by Gordon C. Climer, VD investigator of the local health unit. The picture dealing with rats, flies and mosquitos were explained by Loreta Gaillard, city sanitarian of the health department.

Mrs. Hugh Sloan arrived from San Antonio Wednesday for a visit in the home of her father, J. O. Burks.

normally is a sharper seasonal decline in meat production "and the decrease will be felt to a greater extent."

Examples of Pork Revision

Examples of the revision of pork cut values are an advance of from 10 to 12 points a pound for center chops ,and chops from 6 7, ham slices from 10 to 12, loin roasts from 7 to 8, bacon from 6 to 8. Sausages go up a point.

Margarine climbs to 8 points a pound from five as the result of an April allocation of 40,800,000 pounds, down about 11,000,000 pounds from March. Also because of a sizeable supply cut, lard, shortening and salad and cooking oils move from 4 to 6 points a pound.

One to two point increases were ordered for most sausage products, such as knackwurst, and for canned meats and many ready-to-eat meats.

Bowles estimated that during April the civilian share of rationed meat will be about 880,000,000 pounds, compared with 896,000,000 pounds this month.

Regrouping of Cheeses.

It explained that the regrouping of cheeses was undertaken to obtain better distribution of the various kinds.

Under the new plan, all the firm, standard cheeses—91 per cent of the rationed total—are in Group 1; perishable cream cheeses in Group 2; soft perishables and dessert specialties in Group 3; and all other types, such as skim-milk cheddar and cooked cheese, are in a newly-established Group 4.

OPA said that because of the regrouping new and old values for cheese cannot be compared.

The April values:

Group 1—10 points a pound.
The same value is set for all products containing 30 per cent or more of the above types of cheese.
Group 2—Six points a pound.
Group 3—Eight points a pound.
Group 4—Four points a pound.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Comment

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—The food situation, currently one of Washington's biggest headaches, came up at Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's news conference today and she made this comment:

"If we would just eat the British ration for one month all over this country we would be much more satisfied with what we have."

Two Naval Vessels Lost In Philippines

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Loss of a tank landing ship and a larke support landing craft in the Philippines from enemy action was announced today by the navy.

The vessels were the LCS (L) (3)-7 and the LST 577. The support landing craft is a type which normally carried a crew of 50 men, and the LST, a crew of 65 to 75.

No announcement was made of total casualties.

The support landing craft was under command of Lt. Franklin L. Elder of Nacogdoches, Tex. He was reported safe.

COMMANDER MARINE CORPS NOMINATED BE FULL GENERAL

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commanding general of the Marine Corps, to be a full general.

At the same time he nominated Vice Admiral Russell R. Waesche, Coast Guard commandant, to be an admiral.

Senate confirmation will place four-star officers at the head of the two services for the first time in history.

In addition the president nominated three vice admirals to be admirals for temporary service. They are:

Richard S. Edwards, deputy commander in chief of the fleet and deputy chief of naval operations; Henry K. Hewitt, commanding the Mediterranean fleet, and Thomas C. Kinkaid, head of naval forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The chief executive also nominated five rear admirals to be vice admirals, four commodores to be rear admirals, 20 captains to be commodores, and six commodores who have held the rank by reason of their position to be commodores regardless of where they serve.

of Bratislava, Moscow dispatches said.

"Whether the units which fought their way to the frontier planned to remain or whether these were scouting groups feeling out the strength of the much-heralded fortified zone is not known," said a dispatch from AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore.

"There are no indications that any of these tanks and armored cars actually crossed the frontier into Austria."

The German communique announced a withdrawal north of the Danube to the Nita river and a 25-mile advance by the Russians from the broken Rhon river line.

Close to Nitra.

This push in Slovakia, dovetailing with the assault below the great river of Southeastern Europe, apparently placed the Russians close to the city of Nitra, 40 miles east of Bratislava, capital of the puppet government of Slovakia, and possibly as close as 30 miles to the border of Moravia.

In the north the German communique announced the evacuation of Kahlholz Cape, their last toehold on the East Prussian mainland except north of Koenigsberg, and said they had withdrawn to the Friache Nehrung, a narrow sandspit extending from Danzig almost to Koenigsberg between the sea and the Frisches lagoon.

Koenigsberg Near Fall.

The early fall of Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia, also was probable. The population was reported reduced to the meat of dogs and cats for food.

Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army was moving along the southern side of the Danube toward Bratislava from Gyor in coordination with Tolbukhin.

Soviet bombers and Stormoviks pounded the fortified junctions of Winden, Neusiedl, Pandorf and Bruck, between Lake Neusiedler and the Danube. Bruck is 365 miles southeast of Gen. Eisenhower's front at Aschaffenberg.

Say Russians Cross Into Austria.

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—Russian troops have crossed the Austrian frontier, the Free Austrian and the Brussels radios said today. The Austrian radio said several border villages in Burgenland province had been seized.

PRESIDENT RETURNS TO WHITE HOUSE FROM HOME IN HYDE PARK

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt returned to the White House today from a four-day visit to his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., and began a series of important conferences.

On his crowded schedule were:

"At His Side" Is One New Books Be Added To Library

One of the timely new books that will be placed on the shelves of the Corsicana Public Library at an early date is the George Korson story of the American Red Cross, "At His Side", which is a resume of activities of the great humanitarian in World War II.

Mr. Korson has been a member of the Red Cross Public Information staff at national headquarters since March, 1942. He wrote the book during the latter half of 1944 while on a leave of absence. Red Cross men and women returning from stations in various parts of the globe supplied much material. Mr. Korson also drew upon official Red Cross archieves which national headquarters made available to him.

"At His Side", which was released for publication on March 10th is the first book to record the world-wide activities of the American Red Cross in this war. It covers the highlights of this record, stressing human interest.

According to Quentin Reynolds, the three greatest discoveries of the war are the jeep, Ernie Pyle, and the Red Cross girl. The new book takes the reader from one theater of war to another, showing Red Cross workers actually at work at the side of American troops under all conditions.

W. L. White Writes on Russia

Another new book of timely interest, now available at the Library, is W. L. White's "Report on the Russians." W. L. White went to Russia with Eric Johnston when the Soviet government put aside its longstanding rule of secrecy and allowed these American visitors to go to the places they wanted to go, ask the questions they wanted to ask, and get the answers to those questions. The picture of Russia and the Russians, as revealed by Mr. White, has been described as an unvarnished one. It is a book that will aid Americans in seeing clearly and thinking straight about the Russians.

An engagement with Secretary of State Stettinius ,presumably to talk over the forthcoming world security conference at San Francisco and the general trend of world affairs.

A conference with the British ambassador, Lord Halifax ,and Oliver Lyttleton and Col. J. J. Llewellyn, who are in the United States to study the food situation.

Miss Vera Sneed, Navarro county home demonstration agent, was in Dallas Tuesday morning to attend the funeral rites of Forrest K Sneed, a cousin, who died Sunday.

This wonderful new Insecticide will kill and repel Flies, Mosquitos, Ants, German Roaches, Jiggers, Carpet Beetles, Water Bugs, Lice, Bed Bugs, Silver Fish, Centipedes, Fleas, Spiders ,Ticks, Night Bugs and many other insects; when used as directed. Inexpensive to use—one bottle will last for weeks. One application of DPT will last from 4 to 10 days.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN SOIL IMPROVEMENT SCHEDULED FRIDAY

FOUR HUNDRED FARMERS EXPECTED ATTEND EVENT ON DAVID FARM

The 400 farmers expected to attend the Navarro County soil improvement field day to be held Friday on the Mrs. J. W. David farm seven miles southwest of Corsicana on Highway 31 will get first-hand information on the latest and most scientific farm practices and will witness demonstrations which should be worth thousands of dollars to any farmer, the sponsors of the program promised Thursday.

The location of the David farm on a paved highway makes it easily accessible to all parts of the county, H. C. Robinson, general chairman, stated. He promised that the meeting will be held, "rain or shine." Latest types of soil conservation machinery will be shown, including the latest type brush and tree cutting power saws.

Public Address System.

A public address system will be used so that everyone can hear, and all machinery exhibitors will be given the opportunity to explain the features of their tools in the event that rain makes field demonstrations impossible, Robinson stated.

"Many ladies have asked if they will be welcome to attend. The answer is emphatically, yes" Robinson said. He promised that lunch will be served on the ground.

C. O. Ferguson, program chairman, explained how the David farm came to be selected for the field day. "This farm," he said, "has been in the David family for a number of years, being purchased in 'the rough' by the late Dr. J. W. David, Corsicana dentist. Much of the land now in cultivation was cleared from heavy timber."

Soil Improvement Practices.

"The farm was first enrolled in an organized soil conservation effort with the Soil Conservation Service and its CCC program on May 12, 1936. Many of the present soil improving practices were begun under that set-up. The conservation plan was converted to a co-operative agreement with the Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District on May 20, 1944.

"The present operator, Lewis David, son of the owner, has been in active charge for the past three years. David was graduated from the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and is a former county agent and AAA employee. He resigned from a position with the latter organization in Washington, D. C., to actively manage this farm.

Two and two-tenths miles of terraces and 240 rods of diversion terraces have been constructed and 2.8 miles of terraces remain to be constructed. One line of concrete structures provides a drainage way for part of the terraces. One channel is being shaped and sodded to Bermuda grass. Another channel is sodded to Dallis grass. The remainder of the terraces empty on sodded pastures.

Terraced Land.

"The 140 acres of terraced land is farmed on the contour to conserve soil and water. Crop residue management is strictly adhered to. No stalks, stubble, grasses, or weeds are burned. A definite three and four-year rotation is followed of principal crops of corn, cotton, oats and grain sorghums. This practice rests the land and helps to retard plant food depletion. Dangers of plant disease and insect damage are reduced.

"One hundred acres of Texas hybrids 18 and 20 are grown for seed corn for sale to other growers. Seventy-five acres of certified seed oats of the Nortex strain are grown. Approximately 250 acres of cotton is planted annually, and the balance of the 563 acres of cultivated land is planted in grain sorghums, legumes, and hybrid corn for feed.

Soil Building Crops.

"At present the farm has 200 acres of winter soil building and cover crops. Approximately 100 acres are in hairy vetch which is now about 15 inches high. Part of the vetch is inter-planted with volunteer oats. A large acreage is in fall sown Hubam, and an additional acre will be planted as weather conditions permit. Several hundred pounds of Hubam seed were sold in 1944. Annual yellow bloom sweet clover (sour clover) planted in the fall is being tried as a winter soil builder. Even the famous Texas bluebonnet is given a trial as a soil improver an cultivated land. A small plot of the 'miracle plant' Kudzu, is beginning the second year of growth.

"Six hundred and twenty-four acres of the farm are in pasture and woods in various stages of deveopment. Much of this acreage is in Bermuda, Buffalo, Rescue, Dallis and native grasses. Burr clover, wild vetch, sour clover and small amounts of Lespedeza provide almost year round grazing. A select herd of grade Herefords utilize these varieties of plants.

Blue Stem Grass.

"David is particularly proud of an eight-acre plot of native blue stem grass seeded with a grain drill in 1938. A good set and growth has been secured in spite of badly eroded and depleted soil.

"A year round supply of stock water is provided by several tanks. One of these tanks is fenced and has a pipe through the dam and a water trough below. Thus erosion of the banks and dam is avoided and a clear unpolluted supply of water is provided. Most of these tanks are stocked with fish and are managed in line with most recent fish management."

Brush-Cutting Saw.

Ferguson called attention to the fact that a special type of brush and tree cutting saw which is pushed about like a wheel barrow will be shown. He said that a promise that this saw would be demonstrated was secured with difficulty because of the demand for the saws.

It is a special type of circular saw that operates either horizontally or vertically and is powered with a six-horse power, four cycle engine that is air cooled and burns gasoline, he said.

The saw weighs only 275 pounds and sells at the factory for approximately $350. Ferguson said that he has had more inquiries about this saw than about any other feature of the field day. The saw was pictured in the Saturday Evening Post last July. Articles about the saw have also appeared in a number of Texas newspapers.

CALIFORNIA CAFE OWNER ABSOLVED OF DEATH TEXAS SAILOR

SAN YSIDRO, Calif, March 29.—(AP)—A coroner's jury yesterday absolved O. F. Edwards, 38, San Ysidro cafe proprietor, of criminal responsibility in the fatal shooting March 20 of Virgil Eugene Williams, 18, aviation machinist's mate, of Marshall, Tex.

Williams died of a head found in an ambulance en route to a Ream Field naval station hospital after being shot by Edwards during a scuffle in front of a cafe.

Edwards testified Williams 'rushed me as I walked toward my car." As the two struggled, Edwards said he pulled a pistol from his pocket and "started to shoot him in the stomach" instead pointed the weapon upward and fired into the air "between our heads."

"He hit me and I went down on my back back and elbow. The gun went off acidentally. I didn't mean to kill him," Erwards said.

Marvin Leroy Slayton, seaman friend of Williams, testified he tried to dissaude the youth from his plan to wait outside the cafe until Edwards closed the place.

He quoted Williams as saying "I'm going to show Edwards he can't run San Ysidro."

Slayton said Edwards ordered all sailors out of the cafe earlier in the evening, contending they were drinking hard liquor and his place was licensed only to sell beer.

Served With Company Twenty-Five Years

L. M. Gardner, Waco, district salesman of the livestock and poultry feed division of the Ralston Purina Company, observed his 25th anniversary in the service of the company March 15.

Gardner is well known in the Corsicana area as the result of his work with the Patrick Feed and Flour Co.

Recognition of Gardner's quarter century of service will be made, as is the company's custom, at Christmas.

John Sealy Hospital Cared For Numerous Charity Patients

GALVESTON, March 29.—(AP)—John Sealy Hospital, which is connected with the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston, cared for 4,433 charity patients in 1944, Superintendent W. O. Bonham reported yesterday. This figure includes 1,770 patients taken in the diagnostic clinic from 143 counties throughout the state.

In a report to the American Medical Association, Bohman said that 100,000 admissions for free treatment were made in the out-patient clinic.

Bohman said that "with the building of thet $2,000,000 general hospital, a gift to the people of Texas by the Sealy and Smith Foundation, x x x an additional 600 beds will be available for general care, which will give us a total of 1100 beds—the largest hospital unit in Texas."

PERSIAN OIL WILL REMAIN IN BRITISH HANDS FOR PRESENT

DESPITE AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN INTERESTS NO CHANGE IN SIGHT

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

ON THE PERSIAN GULF—(AP)—Persian oil will remain a rigid British monopoly until after the war, despite the desires of American private companies and the Soviet Union to stake out concessions and the competitive desire of the British to protect themselves by expansion.

The British monopoly is held by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company Ltd., which operates a huge refinery at Abadan.

American companies sent negotiators to dicker with the Iranian government last year. Britain likewise gave indications of further interest and, eventually, the third ally with troops in Iran sent in a deputy commissary from Moscow for a voice and a share in the oil prospect.

The rivalry and the internal political repercussions became so hopelessly entangled that Persia called of all negotiations until the troops of the three big powers have been withdrawn from Persian soil.

Russian Demand

The then Iranian Premier, Saed chose to interpret the Russian demand as a request for concession "in principle" with conditions to be drafted later.

Prime Minister Saed formed a new cabinet committed against oil concessions. Then he announced that further dickering for oil was forbidden.

Saed says the Russians sent a mission to Tehran which asked—orally only—for a concession of about 160,000 square miles for exploition in a five-year period, after which the area would be reduced in accord with the findings of the prospectors. The mission in return offered employment and technical instruction of Iranians, which Saed thought would bring in droves of Russian "technicians" and further "Sovietize' north Persia. Saed says the Russians refused to put their proposals in writing.

In the midst of the Russian talks, the Iranian Ambassadors to London Moscow, Cairo and Ankara and the Minister to Bagdad endorsed the government stand against wartime oil concessions.

The political disadvantages seemed to outweigh the economic advantages, and the answer to Russia the Americans and British having withdrawn—was still a firm "no."

Several weeks later demonstrations against Saed, led by the "today" party, were staged in the streets of Tehran. Saed declared the demonstrators were rounded up from the north Persia countryside and brought into Teherean in Red army lorries, paid three tomans each (about 90 cents) with lunch thrown in.

Saed also became the target of a drumfire of prolonged propaganda in Tehran. Under pressure, he resigned Nov. 9.

The new government immediately set out to stave off foreign pressure. Parliament decreed imprisonment and forfeiture of the right to hold public office for any official entering into oil negotiations with foreigners.

FINAL SENATE VOTE ON MANPOWER BILL TO COME NEXT WEEK

ADMINISTRATION APPEARED TO HAVE DEVELOPED "BACK ROW" TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Administration leaders decided informally today to postpone the final senate vote on the Manpower bill until next week.

Privately less optimistic about the prospect for senate acceptance, the administration forces sparred for tife in an effort to persuade some of their absent senators to return to the capital.

The administration appeared to have encountered "back row trouble." Some of the junior senators whose seats are in the rear of the chamber have balked at accepting the stringent terms of the bill, which provides jail penalties and fines for workers and employers who violate job directives.

Majority Leader Barkley and Senator Thomas (D-Utah) floor manager for the bill, were called to the White House today for a discussion of the situation with President Roosevelt.

The conference followed by 24 hours a presidentia etter to Thomas urging senate adoption of a new manpower measure worked out by senate and house conferees.

The house approved the legislation by a slim margin and the senate was moving toward a vote. Mr. Roosevelt told Thomas yesterday failure of the legislation to pass would make conduct of the war "even more difficult," while adoption, he said, would hearten the armed forces.

Claim Enough Votes.

Administration forces earlier had claimed enough senate votes to pass the measure.

Contesting the contention of Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) that the compromise measure would be rejected, majority leader Barkley (Ky) said he did a little nose-counting himself.

"And I feel pretty confident," he told reporters.

Barkley's confidence was fortified by a letter from President Roosevelt, read yesterday by Senator Thomas (D-Utah), floor manager for the revised bill. Mr. Roosevelt said he earnestly hoped the Senate would accept the measure which squeezed through the House by a seven-vote margin. He declared the manpower situation still is serious and said days ahead hold "great temptation" for workers to leave war plants.

McNutt's Support

War manpower commissioner Paul V. McNutt threw his support behind the measure—indirectly. In a statement last night, the WMC chief said that while the employment situation shows a "positive betterment" an "extra push" needed in getting more workers to transfer from non-essential to war jobs.

The bill would make war Mobilizer James F. Byrnes over-all boss of the program, with authority to delegate its actual operation to any agency he chooses. McNutt expects to get the call.

The bill permits Byrnes—or his designated aide—to freeze workers in their jobs, establish employment ceilings for plants or localities, and regulate or forbid the hiring of new workers. The penalty for wilful violation would be up to a year in jail or $10,000 fine.

Information From Navarro County Rationing Board

Canning sugar application blanks are now available at the local OPA office, W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro county rationing board, announced Tuesday.

Wright announced the following regulations affecting retailers of liquid ice cream mix, ice cream sherbert ice, ice milk, and similar products including imitations and combnations of them: Retailers must post their current prices which must never be more than the OPA ceiling price. Retailers must also file with the local board a statement showing their ceiling prices with an appropriate description and identffication of each grade, including its trade name, if any. Prices on new products must be filed within 15 days after the retailer begins to sell the new grade. The same rule applies to adjusted prices and to new retailers. The deadline for filing the prices has passed and retailers should get their filings in at once, Wright said.

Those engaged in the slaughtering of meat animals in Corsicana and Navarro county are invited to attend one of two meetings to be held in April under direction of the OPA. On April 5 at 2 p. m. a meeting will be held at Tyler, and on April 6 at 8 p. m. a meeting will be held in Palestine. Maximum prices on live cattle will be discussed at the meetings, according to W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro county rationing board.

Several Navarro county merchants have recently paid fines and have had federal court injunctions granted agains them because of violations of OPA ceiling price regulations, Wright stated. He warned that OPA representatives are making a few spot checks from time to time. "Whenever they find evidence of violations of OPA regulations they are insisting on fines being levied and injunctions being issued through the federal courts in Dallas," he stated.

If any merchants engaged in selling house furnishings and certain articles of apparel covered by the new MPR 580 are having any trouble in preparing their price charts by the simplified method, the local board will be glad to help them, Wright said. Deadline for filing the charts with the district OPA office, Rio Grande Bldg., Dallas, is April 20. The stores must also post retail ceiling prices on the articles covered by the regulation by the same date.

Wright again announced that a meeting for merchants who are affected by the regulation will be held at the courthouse April 6 at 8:30 a. m.

BROTHERS HOME—Sgt. Thomas G. Posey, 26, (left) and Pfc. Thurman F. Posey, 22, are now at home on furlough visiting their mother, Mrs. Ora Posey, Frost. Thomas is a veteran of 32 months service in India and Thurman has been in the Aleutians for 22 months. Both are in the Quartermasters Corps and they have not seen each other in three years. Another brother, Pfc. William V. Posey, U. S. Army, medical corps, in in France. Thomas will report to Salt Lake City, Utah, for reassignment and Thurman reports to Camp Howze, Gainesville, on April 3.

Army, somewhere in France or Germany, has been promoted from the rank of sergeant to that of staff-sergeant, according to information received by his wife, Mrs. Verlene Ellis of Corsicana. Prior to entering the U. S. Army in March, 1941, S-Sgt. Ellis was employed by the Texas Power and Light Company. He has been overseas twenty-five months.

ROSWELL ARMY AIR FIELD, Roswell, N. M., March 28.—(Spl.) —Destined for B-29 Superfortress combat assignment, Lt. John H. Sullivan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sullivan, 710 West Fourth avenue, Corsicana, Texas, has entered a streamlined five-weeks course at the AAF Training Command's B-29 transition school here to become a flight engineer. His training here will be as a member of a three-man unit consisting of the airplane commander, who actually flies the sky dreadnaught as the first pilot; the pilot, who serves as his assistant, and the flight engineer, whose duty it is to "engineer" the battle plane to and from its bomb-dropping rendezvous. After completion of the course here this three-man team will join the rest of the flying personnel of a B-29 in an operational training unit for further schooling.

T-5 J. A. Thompson, of 1025 Summit, Corsicana, recently at home on a 23 day furlough, following return to the United States last month after 29 months overseas in Europe, has reported at the Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station in Hot Springs, Arkansas. The Redistribution Station is one of the installations recently set up by the Army Service Forces' 9th Service Command to reassign service men and women who come back to the United States from the fighting fronts under the rotation program.

Sgt. Hayden O. Ware, U. S. Army, ordnance, now serving with the Dixie Division on Morotai, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque for excellent maintenance work during a year overseas. A native of Navarro county and the Angus community, Sgt. Ware has been in the army seven years and eight months and has previously been stationed at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, Hawaii. His wife, Mrs. Oma Ware resides at Texas City. He is the son of Mrs. Flossie Ware, 4609 McKinney, ouston.

Sgt. Randall Higgins, 1941 graduate of the State Home, U. S. A. A. F., gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress is spending several days here en route from Las Vegas, Nevada, to Lincoln, Nebraska, for a new assignment. He has been in the air forces two and one-half years and prior to that time was a linectype operator in Dodge City, Kansas, and San Angelo, Texas. Sgt. Higgins reports at his new assignment April 4, but plans to leave Corsicana about the middle of the week for Amarillo.

Pvt. William C. Read, 35, wounded in action January 21, with the U. S. Third Army in Luxembourg, has arrived at the Harmon General Hospital, Longview, according to information received by his mother, Mrs. W. R. Read, 720 South Main street. Entering the service in October 1942 he had been overseas for over a year.

Jack W. Rivers, 827 North Commerce street, is now at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, where he is receiving pre-flight training to prepare him for aerial instruction and duties as a crew member in the Army Air Forces, according to announcement by the public relations office.

Pvt. J. Harvey Thomas has landed safely at his destination overseas, according to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Thomas, Kerens. He is well and wants all his friends to write to him. Prior to entering the service Thomas resided at Dallas where he was employed by the Safeway Bakery. His wife resides at Dallas.

WOUNDED IN ACTION — Pfc. Wesley Warner, 25, with Gen. Patch's Seventh U. S. Army, was slightly wounded in action in France March 5, according to information from the war department received by his wife, Mrs. Lavalter Warner, and five-year old son, 405 South Twenty-third and a half street. In a recent letter received by Mrs. Warner from her husband he said that he was wounded in his left shoulder, was now in a hospital and getting along fine. Entering the service June 30, 1944, he has been overseas since December 1944, and has participated in several major battles. He was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

New Prediction On End Of War Is From War Correspondent

WACO, Tex., March 29—(AP)—Associated Press war correspondent J. Norman Lodge predicted last night that Germany would not be defeated before September and that victory in the Pacific would require three years after that date.

Lodge spoke at the Waco Junior Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. He said that the German army would withdraw into the Alps and stand off Allied troops in the same fashion as it has been doing in Italy As for the Pacific, Lodge said complacency, selfishness and over-optimism at home could cost the United States its chance to win in the Pacific war.

Sam Powell, Jr., was installed as new president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in ceremonies at the banquet.

Tomato Planting And Culture Told By Miss Vera Sneed

The following interesting and vaulable information relative to the planting and culture has been supplied by Miss Vera Sneed, Navarro County Home Demonstration agent:

Tomatoes—This vegetable is most important for every gardener. Start with large plants, 7 to 9 inches in height, "that are not spindly." When commercial fertilizer (5-10-5) can be used, apply about a teacupful when each plant is to be set out. Chop the fertilizer into the soil over an area approximately 1 1-2 feet square. This should be done if possible, 7 to 10 days before setting the plants. When setting is done, wet the plants thoroughly at the time of setting, and be sure they are kept wet for the first week after setting. Where fertilizer has not been applied to the soil before planting, a "starter solution" will help give the plants a good send-off. Mix about two tablespoonsfuls of 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer in a gallon of water, and water the plants with this solution at time of setting. A second starter solution can be given about a week following setting.

Town Gardeners

Town gardeners should stake the plants to save space. This practice also causes earlier and larger fruit. Old scrap lumber can be split into stakes 5 to 6 feet in height, and these should be driven well into the soil the second week after the plants are set out. By staking the plants early, they can be trained onto the stakes without difficulty. Removing the suckers once a week is part of the job which makes for earlier and larger tomatoes. Don't plant weak plants if you expect to get early tomatoes that you will be proud of.

Tomato plants are a favorite of cut worms. The first few days after tomato plants are set, cut worms often take a heavy toll. To prevent this damage, place a tomato can, with both ends cut out, over each plant, sinking the can 3 to 4 inches into the soil and leaving a part above the surface. If cans are not available, sprinkle poisoner bran mash over the area where the tomatoes are to be planted. This should be done two or three days before planting. Apply the mash in the late evening. The following formula will get the worms: 5 pounds coarse wheat bran or egg-laying mash, 1 pint molasses, 3 ounces white arsenic or Paris Green. Add enough water to make the mixture slightly moist and sticky. Sprinkle in small particles over infested area.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

WEST FRONT

advance troops operating in echelon with the First army moved eastward to within 214 miles of Berlin.

Many Places Fall.

Hamborn, Weisbaden, Hanau, Aschaffenburg and the northern half of Mannheim fell to Gen. Eisenhower's victory-flushed armies fighting up to 145 miles deep in Germany.

The full extent of the advances in Westphalia was hidden by a portentious security blackout, but AP Correspondent Ned Nordness said Muenster, Osnabrueck and Hannover all were threatened by the sweeping gains outflanking the Ruhr to the north. Several defendable rivers were crossed easily. Hannover is 112 miles from the last publishable British positions on the approaches to Muenster, capital of Westphalia.

The nearest First army approach to Berlin was at Amoenburg, 85 miles beyond the Rhine and 255 from Russian siege lines in the east. The First and Third armies scored advances of 20 miles or more overnight, capturing the important Lahn river traffic center of Marburg, without opposition.

Mannheim Virtually Encircled.

The Seventh army fighting 38 miles east of the Rhine on a solid front with the Third and First armies, virtually encircled teh last defenders of Mannheim by crossing the Neckar river near that chemical center. The Seventh also crossed the Main south of Aschaffenburg at points east of Sedweinheim and Niederberg.

The enemy was concerned about operations on the Neckar, which flows behind the easily defended Black Forest in the south. The Germans blew the bridges east of Mannheim.

Numerous cities were within grasp of the charging allies. Among them were Kassel (217,0851, 43 miles from the First army; Essen (660,000), six mies from the Ninth and Heidelberg (84,650), six miles from the Seventh army.

Positions of Armies.

Armies in the north were at these positions before the blackout was imposed: Hamm (52,000) eastern exit of the Ruhr, 24 miles away; Mulheim (136,905), 5; Gelsenkirchen (313,000) 6; Bochum (303,000), 11; Oberhausen (191,305), 2; and Dortmund (537,000), 19.

All the Rhine from Bonn to Mannheim, a winding stretch of nearly 150 miles, was in allied hands.

The Seventh army well beyond the river Main put assault teams from its 100,000 or more combat troops east of the Rhine on a beeline for the great nazi party city of Nuernberg (431,000) 89 miles away. First and Third army troops in the heart of Germany were but 152 miles from Leipzig (701,606), threatened on the east by strong Russian armies.

Hour of Success Near.

Prime Minister Churchill declared that the "hour of success" was near.

Well over 23,000 nazis—the equivalent of more than two of the 65 divisions estimated to be fighting in the west—surrendered in a single day.

Supreme headquarters lifted the security mask only enough to disclose advances of 20 miles—and those were just samples. Briefing officers at headquarters took the black tape "Western Front Line" off their huge war map and kept apace of the onrush by at least five armies on the loose with red arrows—sometimes mived eastward every hour.

Little Opposition.

All Western Germany is being chewed up swiftly. Allied armor was moving as fast as it did through France last fall, and with little opposition.

American and British armored battle teams north of the Ruhr raced 20 miles across the Westphalian plains to the approaches of Fuester in exploiting a breakthrough so thoroughly that Field Marshal Montgomery imposed strict security silence "because of the rapidity of present operations." This suggested a momentour victory was being fashioned.

American Ninth Army troops crashed through the Ruhr port of Duisburg, a city of 431,000, which the German army had abandoned. The aged and very young of the Volkssturm, left behind as defenders, laid down their weapons and quit outright and the Rhine city hung out the white flag.

First Army Columns.

One of the First Army's tank columns captured Holzhausen, 88 miles southeast of Muenster and 11 west of conquered Marburg. This force was driving north from Central Germany, perhaps toward a junction with the British in the Muesnster area in a maneuver which might trap the entire Ruhr and its myriad defense forces.

At Amoenburg, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' racing armor was 95 miles southeast of Muenster and in position to curl around the whole outflanked Ruhr—essential to German war economy—and trap its myriad defenders in conjunction with the 21st Army group racing across the Westphalian flats.

Hodges also was 152 miles west of Leipzig, Germany's fifth city, and 255 from Russian lines. His troops and those of the Third Army formed three more linkups west of falling Frankfurt on the Main, a city more than half captured. The armies, both commanded by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, also joined hands at Kamberg and Idstein, southeast of Limburg.

German Lines Disintegrating.

German lines everywhere were disintegrating swiftly. The cloaks of portentious silence which Bradley and Montgomery both imposed were hiding out the full extent of triumphs in the heartland of the staggering Reich.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's hard-hitting Fourth armored division crashing along the rankfurt-Leipzig superhighway advanced 19 miles in a day and reached Gruenberg, 214 miles from Berlin and 14 east of captured Giessen. One prong of the breakthrough division advanced eight miles northeast to near Beltersham, south of the main Berlin-Frankfurt superhighway.

Fall of Frankfurt Near.

Frankfurt itself was all but conquered. More than half of the ninth largest city of Germany—a great chemical and electrical equipment producer as well as banking center—was in Third Army hands. Nearby Hanau and Aschaffenburg weer captured.

The First Army stormed through the important traffic center of Marburg on the way to Amoenburg and captured it without resistance.

In the Ruhr itself, the Ninth Army's 79th division reached the Rhine canal inside Duisburg, a city of 431,000 and Europe's greatest inland port, and captured the dock area. Another combat team was in Sterkrade. The 35th Division reached the outskirts of Gladbeck and other elements of the Ninth Army reached Dorsten "in a wide advance," battle dispatches said.

Armies Fanning Out.

Bradley's First and Third armies were fanning out in several directions, swiftly exploiting the clean and wide breakthrough of the center of the German front some 145 miles inside Germany and 85 or so east of the Rhine. The general directions of attack, however, were east and north.

The full extent of victories of the U. S. Ninth and British Second armies in the Ruhr and on the Westphalian flatlands north of its factories will not be known until the security ban is lifted. Pilots reported the British around Dueman, 17 miles from Muenster, but that was many hours before the censors halted dispatches.

The Lahn was crossed at Marburg and the Germans lost without a fight a strong natural barrier to Bradley's eastward drive. Elements of the Ninth infantry division rushed in behind the tanks—the greatest armored force ever deployed in the west—to consolidate gains.

Nowhere was the enfeebled enemy able to check either of Bradley's armies in this fifth day of continuous, sleepless attack to end the war.

Ruhr Burst Open.

The Ruhr itself was burst open by the Ninth army, but Montgomery allowed but a few captured places to be named. Great cities fell or were faling.

The famous Spa city of Weisbaden, four miles north of Ma.n, was captured. Its 172,000 population made it Germany's 32nd city.

Farther south, the American Seventh army, exploiting a breakthrough of its own, captured the northern half of Mannheim (283,000) a chemical production center. Troops were edging toward the old university city of Heidelberg (84,650) less than eight miles away.

Flying weather was bad for the third straight day—about the only comfort in the war picture for the enemy. Rain and fog and low clouds shrouded most of the front.

British Position.

The British at last publishable reports were 50 miles east of the Rhine and 240 miles from Berlin in their breakthrough aimed at Muenster. Dorsten fell. Emmerich. Bocholt and Borken all were entered.

The Tommies thrusting over the north. German plains threatened not only Muenster but the cities of Hannover (473,000) and Osnabreuck as well, AP Correspondent Ned Nordness reported.

"Several rivers have been crossed, rivers where the enemy could have made a stand had not Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's advance been so swift," Nordness added. A total of 12,000 prisoners were in 21st army group cages east of the Rhine.

Contacts were established by the First and Third armies at Idstein, 16 miles northwest of Frankfurt, and at Kamburg, 14 north of Weisbaden. Another linkup was made at Niedderhausen, 14 miles west of Frankfurt.

Florsheim Cleared.

Third army troops which occupied Weisbaden conquered the area five miles to the east. In a six-mile thrust east of Mainz, infantry cleared Florsheim, where the shoe family got its start.

The Fifth division was nearing the finish of its cleanup of Frankfurt itself, a city of 547,000. The Germans held only a small part of its northern outskirts but still were shelling the proud city of the Rothschilds and its Main bridges.

Gen. Eisenhower had seven armies fighting east of the Rhine and they were running toward final victory down roads on which few road blocks or other defenses appeared. He had committed a minimum of 86 combat divisions to the fray and perhaps 1,500,000 men when other divisions known to be in the battle are announced. He had two other armies in reserve, the French First and the U. S. 15th.

The Germans had only a fraction as many men and many of these

The wording was fixed by the Smith-Connally labor disputes act under which the ballot was taken.

Completion of the vote, biggest ever undertaken by the NRLB, cleared the way for Lewis to reply to Interior Secretary Ickes' request that the present contract be extended to May 1.

Efforts to reach a new agreement before the present agreement expires Saturday night seemed destined to fail.

Lewis can withhold a formal strike call pending new efforts to win his 18 wage and working benefits—including a 10-cent-a-ton "participating royalty" payment estimated to net the union $60,000,000 a year.

The First had driven across the Lahn river earlier, reaching Amoeneburi, 85 miles east of the Rhine.

New York Cotton Table

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—After displaying an easy tone in early trading, cotton futures turned steady today on mill buying against textile awards and scattered local demand. Offerings were light. The market was partly supported by covering prior to the extended holiday. Uncertainty over war developments and price control legislation limited trading.

Late afternoon prices were 15 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower. May 22.05, July 21.78, Oct. 21.26.

Futures closed unchanged to 5 cents lower.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Rail and industrial specialties exhibited relative strength in today's stock market although many leaders faltered and dealings were among the slowest of the past several months.

Transfers ran to around 600,000 shares.

Morris and Esse and Lackawanna pushed upward on the I.C.C. approval of the merger agreement. Sinclair Oil responded to a pleasing profits statement of its Venezuelan subsidiary. At 1945 peaks were Plymouth Oil and American Airlines.

Ahead were Northern Pacific, Crown Zellerbach, International Paper, United Air Lines, Grumman Airacraft, Transcontinental and Western, Douglas Aircraft, Nickel plate preferred and Kennecott. On the offside were Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Sperry and Eastern Lines.

Bonds and commoditeis were moderately higher.

Walls Of Catacombs Tell Their Own Easter Story

ALMOST EVERYONE KNOWS by now that the rabbit and the egg became our two most imperishable Easter symbols because to people of earlier times they represented on earth the fertility and rebirth that Easter means spiritually. There are other Easter symbols of more importance—the Cross, the Resurrection Scenes and the sacred Lily, all of which were used to symbolize personal messages to one another. Although many of the earlier symbols have faded from use, they are still found on the walls of the Roman catacombs, where the early Christians worshipped.

THE FISH—For nearly 1,000 years, the fish was a sacred symbol among Christians. It happened this way. Ichthus, the Greek word meaning fish, is also an anagram of the initials of the Greek words meaning Jesus Christ, Son of God and Saviour. As drawn on catacomb walls, this fish looks like our common pike, and it was used also on the seals and rings of early Christians. On many ancient churches still standing the fish is carved in stone.

THE WORD "EASTER"—English is the only language that does not borrow from the Hebrew word "Passover" to describe the holiday of Resurrection. In French, it is Paques, in Dutch, Paschen; in Italian, Pasqua; in Scotch, Pask, and so on. To early British Christians, the word passover had no significance whatsoever, and the word Easter, derived from the name of the Saxon Goddess of Spring came into being. Its first literary use came in 1611 by the English translators of the authorized Bible.

THE EASTER MOON—For many centuries the "Easter Moon" was an Easter symbol. When Christ was seized in Gethsemane, the moon was at its full and had not lost its brilliance three days later. Early worshippers looked on the Easter Moon as a symbol of the white robe Jesus wore at the sepulcher. The influence of this Easter Moon has persisted to our day, for we still celebrate Easter on the first Sunday after the first full moon following March 21st. Thus, even we honor this ancient symbol more than we honor the calendar.

EASTER FLOWERS—It was 400 A. D. before living flowers were sanctioned for use in the church. Before that, however, Christians in the catacombs, when they inscribed the Cross upon the walls, also carved a halo of flowers above to lighten the memory of the Cross as an instrument of the Saviour's death. And while everyone knows that the Easter lily is associated with purity, it may come as news that the daffodil (or jonquil) was a favorite Easter flower because its bell-shaped blossom resembled the golden trumpet announcing the victory of Resurrection over death.

THE PEACOCK—For those who are astonished that the peacock was ever an Easter symbol at all, one authority says that for five centuries this bird was the favorite symbol of immortality in the catacombs. Like most such borrowings from nature, the reasoning behind the adoption of this symbol is logical. The peacock has an amazing longevity which gave rise to an old belief that his flesh resisted decay; thus, immortality. Like the fish, it, too, is inscribed on the churches erected after Christianity became the State religion of the Roman Empire. It may even be that the idea of new clothes for Easter derives from the brilliant plumage of the peacock.

EASTER CARDS—Long before the printing press was invented. Easter greetings were exchanged much as they are now, except that in Mediaeval times the medium of exchange was a decorated Easter egg with a message painted on its colored shell. The Easter card as we know it began in America in the last half of the last century, when they were no more than pleasant Springtime pictures with a word or two of greetings. Easter cards conveying reverent Easter prayers and sentiments came into general use about 1908, until today when all aspects of the joyous holiday, from the child delighted at the discovery of the hidden egg, to quiet scenes of people on their way to church, are portrayed on our Eastertide messages.

Jack Megarity Makes Financial Statement

With reference to an article appearing in the Daily Sun of January 3, 1945, entitled "Jim Taylor Leaves Office With Cash Balance," I wish to make the following reply:

On Dec. 1, 1944, Commissioners Precinct No. 1 had a balance in the budget for 1944 of $630.84.

On Dec. 11, 1944, Precinct No. 1 paid out $1131.87.

On Dec. 31, 1944, Precinct No. 1 OWED First National Bank $1750 on note.

On Jan. 1, 1945 before I went in office, Precinct No. 1 paid out $985.85.

On Jan. 1, 1945 before I went in office, Precinct No. 1 had OUTSTANDING bills UNPAID of $742.65.

The total of the above items amounts to $1610.07 less the $630.84 balance on Dec. 1, 1944 in the 1944 budget, leaves a total of $3 979.23 paid and to be paid out of the 1945 budget and this $3979.23, plus $5,800 Precinct No. 1 part of a $20,000 bank loan borrowed in September and October of 1944, makes a grand total of $9,779.23 of the 1945 budget I was SUPPOSED to use for operating expenses for 1945, already spent. The above figures can be verified by the county auditor's office notwithstanding the statement made in the Daily Sun that "I am turning the affairs of the precinct over to my successor with all equipment in a good state of repair and adequate, all debts paid (except payment due on motor grader above mentioned) and a cash balance of the sum of $2883.-09.

On September 2, 1944, the Commissioners Court borrowed from the First National Bank of Corsicana, Texas, $4,000 and on Oct. 4, 1944, they borrowed from the First National Bank of Corsicana, Texas, $16,000, making a total of borrowed money of $20,000, and it was agreed by the Commissioners Court at the time this $20,000 was borrowed that it was to be paid back by taking 10 cents of the 15 cents road and bridge fund tax FOR 1945. NOTWITHSTANDING the statement made in the Daily Sun article that "During the past year the income from the Road and Bridge Fund has been reduced exactly two-thirds." The income for 1944 Road and Bridge Fund was not reduced ONE PENNY for the year 1944 but the REDUCTION took place on this year, 1945, income.

After all indebtedness is paid there will be approximately $5,000 in the road and bridge fund for the entire county for the year 1945, Commissioner's Precinct No. 1 gets 29 per cent of this $5,000, or approximately $1450.00 and this amount plus 29 per cent of the auto registration tax is the total amount of funds I will have to operate on for the year 1945.

I am making the above statements in order that the record may be kept straight and all statements and figures listed above can be verified at the county auditor's office.

Respectfully submitted,
JACK MEGARITY,
Commissioner Precinct No. 1.

Benning, Ga. He went overseas in January 1945. He was a welder in the Pennsylvania Ship Yards, Beaumont, before entering the service.

UNANIMOUS VOTE OF HEREFORD ASSOCIATION MAKES WHEELOCK PRESIDENT; J. N. EDENS ON BOARD

DALLAS, March 28—(Spl)—Setting a pattern for wartime conventions streamlined by the Office of Defense Transportation, the Texas Hereford Association announced today that a count of a postcard ballot shows full approval by the members of the action of the directors who met at the recent Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show and transacted the business of the organization in lieu of the annual membership gathering.

Lloyd Wheelock of Corsicana was declared elected president, Ross Boothe of Gonzales, vice-president and the following were added to the board of directors: James M. North, Jr., Ft. Worth; M. Benavides Volpe, Laredo; H. A. Fitzsimmons, San Antonio and Harrison Stafford, Edna.

Vote Unanimous

The postcard vote would have been unanimous but for a single exception. One ballot was cast against North for director. That vote was cast by North himself. It didn't carry much weight.

North is generally known as editor of the Star Telegram but cattlemen also know him as the owner of the 1,000-acre Northwoods Farm northeast of Ft. Worth where he maintains one of the finest little herds of purebred Herefords in the country.

Stafford, another of the new directors, was a star football player on the University of Texas Longhorn team a decade ago and later played on the professional eleven of the New York Giants.

Wheelock, former mayor of Corsicana, who succeeds Jack Frost as president, is owner of Publican Domino Jr. 122d. grand champion bull of both the Houston Fat Stock Show and the Southwestern Exposition of 1945.

Wheelock is proud of his champions, but as a long-time director of the Texas Hereford Association he has always insisted that the primary purpose of the organization is not the development of purple ribbon winners but the development of the Hereford business as a sound and profitable industry for the production of more and better beef.

Not a Hobby

"There seems to be an idea which is getting all too prevalent that the Hereford breeding business is a rich man's hobby," Wheelock said. "Fifty-thousand dollar bulls are all right for those who can afford them but the Hereford has come to be the dominant breed in Texas and the nation only because it is an economic necessity. For several decades, the breeding of registered Herefords has proved one of the surest and most pleasant ways in which a practical cattleman can win his financial independence. Such men are not so much interested in spectacular prices as they are in buying and selling purebred Herefords on such quality and at such figures as will give the sellers reasonable profits and suit the herds and pocketbooks of the buyers.

"Multicolored ribbons and awards are, to these men, no more than public approval of their efforts to breed cattle that will produce finer beef in less time at lower cost to the consumer with a fair return to al concerned."

Edens a Director

Directors re-elected included the folowing: Mason King and W. A. McSpadden, Amarilo; W. L. Stangel, Lubbock; Henry Arledge, Seymour; Harrie Winston, Snyder; Walter L. Boothe, Sweetwater; Jack Frost, Blackwel; Roy Largent and W. J. Largent, Merkel; R. A. Brown, Throckmorton; Roy Parks, Midland; Joe Mitchell, Marfa; Mans Hoggett, Mertzon; Abney McInnis, Owens; James M. Brook, Brady; Max Pluenneke, Mason; Libb Wallace, Sonora; Mike Robinson, Bandera; W. T. Montgomery, San Antonio; S. L. McDowell, Harlingen; J. S. Bridwell, Wayne H. Hammon and George D. Keith, Wichita Falls; G. P. Mitcham, Cisco; John C. Burns, Dr. Charles H. Harris and Jack Turner, Ft. Worth; R. B. George and W. P. Luse, Dallas; Naud Burnett, Greenville; M. L. Smiley, Brookston; R. E. Pratt, Sulphur Springs; F. W. Fischer, Tyler; T. M. Armstrong, Gladewater; Charles Neblett, Jr., Stephenville; Charles Pettit, Walnut Springs; Bruck Parks, Clifton; J. Bruce Duncan, Waco; Jim Hering, McGregor; J. N. Edens, Sr., Corsicana; W. H. Long, Crockett; Frank Young, Jacksonville; J. L. Frazer, Lampasas; Charles S. Cox, Jr., Temple; Dr. W. J. NAVARRO COUNTY WMU OF BAPTIST CHURCHES MEETS

The Navarro County WMU of the Baptist churches met in regular session at the Missionary Baptist church, March 25, with six unions represented.

The subject, "God's Love," was discussed as follows:

Corsicana gave the devotional, using I. John 3 1-10, Mrs. W. W. Wilbanks read and discussed it. Mrs. W. N. Hamilton then brought a good discussion of Black Hills' part, 'God's Love Gives Precious Gifts," I. Peter 2:4.

Fairview's part, "God's Love Overcomes Great Difficulties," I. John 5:4, was ably discussed by Mrs. Heath Blake. Navarro not being represented, Ora Speegle of Corsicana discussed their part, "God's Love Made Great Sacrifices," Heb. 9:24-28.

Rev. W. E. Nunn of Rice brought a fine message on "How May We Know That We Are Led by the Holy Spirit?" at the 11 o'clock hour. A collection was then taken for Jacksonville Baptist College. Rev. J. F. Prince dismissed for lunch.

After lunch, served picnic style, on the church lawn, we reassembled and Rev. E. L. Jones led the song service and Mrs. King of Raleigh led in prayer.

The regular program was again taken up. Mrs. E. A. Keller of Petty's Chapel brought an able discussion of I. John 4:7-16. Mrs. W. E. Nunn of Rice then brought a good message on "God's Love Contemplates Lasting Benefits," John 3:16. Rev. T R. Vaughn sang a special song, "The Great Judgment Morning." Mrs. Willard Staggs then discussed Pleasant Grove's subject, "God's Love Secures Great Inheritance," Rom. 8:14-16. Mrs. J. C. McGraw then concluded the program with Blooming Grove's part, "God's Love Guarantees An Eternal Home," John 14:1-3.

After a short business course the meeting was dismissed to meet again in September.

Serious Black Market In Meat in Dallas and Fort Worth District

DALLAS, March 29.—(AP)—Lester C. Boone, regional foods enforcement attorney, said yesterday a serious black market in meat existed in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and that criminal charges probably would be filed Friday in connection with an investigation conducted by his agency.

Approximately 10,000,000 pounds of meat have moved on the Dallas and Fort Worth black market during the last year, Boone said. This estimate, he explained, is based on the knowledge that almost all meat below army grade is being sold through black market channels.

LIBERATOR'S CREW LITERALLY CHEWED THEIR WAY HOME

ADVANCED AIRBASE PHILIPPINES—(Delayed)—(AP)—The flight crew of First I. Harry Hurst's Liberator chewed its way home from Formosa the other day.

A flak burst wrenched the four-engine plane violently during the bomb run twisted loose a gasoline connection. Engineers were unable to fix it. They lost three hundred gallons before Co-Pilot Flight Officer Paul Banker, Des Moines, suggested chewing gum.

He had two cartons, everybody chewed furiously. For hundreds of overwater miles they chewed and plugged.

"When we got home we were down to our last three packages" laughed Pilot Hurst of Houston, Texas. "I guess you could say we flew home on chicle."

The plane was a member of the famous Jolly Roger group of Fifth airforce.

AAUP WILL DECIDE WHAT TO DO ABOUT TEXAS UNIVERSITY

DISMISSAL OF RAINEY AS PRESIDENT MAY BRING DISCIPLINARY ACTION

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—The question of placing the University of Texas on its censored list of schools will be taken up by the executive council of the American association of University Professors May 18 and 19 in Chicago.

Dr. Ralph E. Himstead, general secretary of the A. A. U. P. disclosed today that the matter has been scheduled for consideration at the council's annual meeting and said it grew out of the dismissal last November of Dr. Homer P. Rainey as president of Texas U.

Following Dr. Rainey's discharge, the A. A. U. P. investigated the relationships of the University's board of regents with Rainey and faculty members. In a recent report the association criticized the regents for assuming a "proprietary" attitude toward the school.

The University's censored list said Dr. Himstead, is published "solely for the purpose of informing our membership, the profession at large and the public, that unsatisfactory conditions of academic freedom and tenure have been found to prevail' 'at the institutions in question.

The fact that a school is on the list discourages recognized members of the teaching profession from seeking to affiliate with its faculty even though the complaint is directed against the administration and not against instructors and professors individually or collectively.

The A. A. U. P. does not recommend to college accrediting agencies that they likewise take steps against a school it has censored, but such action sometimes follows, he added. He said that the Southern Association of colleges and secondary schools now has an investigation under way into the Texas University situation.

The membership of the A. A. U. P. is composed of 16,910 members of faculties of 650 accredited Junior and Senior colleges and universities throughout the country. Headquarters of the association is here. The 36-member executive council is headed by Dr. Quincy Wright, professor of international law at the university of Chicago.

MANILA—(AP)—A drive through the once beautiful residential districts of Manila south of the Pasig River is nearly as sickening as a survey of the block after block of shattered buildings in the downtown area.

They share the ghastly scars of the most destructive chapter of the war in the Southwest Pacific.

In the Pasay, Malate and Ermita districts, probably two-thirds of the better homes are destroyed or damaged. Many are only piles of ashes and rubble, with concrete steps still standing as mute reminder of a once beautiful mansion in a fence-enclosed yard. Twisted, charred corrugated metal roofing is strewn about. Sometimes a bathtub or two stand out in the rubble, but many have been carted away.

Some of the mansions which escaped with nothing worse than a few broken windows in the fighting have suffered from the ravages that come in the wake of war. Looters had a field day.

A three-story mansion in which some of the press corps set up headquarters had beautiful wood paneled walls on the first floor. Half of them were torn out, leaving concrete exposed. The wooden bannister was ripped off. Doors were taken from or with their hinges.

The tragedy of Manila is burned deep.

When a bunch of Yanks hit a town, it's a safe bet the bright lights—or in this case the candle lights—won't be far behind.

Innumerable little hole-in-the-wall cafes and bars have reopened in the non-modernized section of the Pasig outside the rim of the destroyed main business district. A few are beginning to appear in the residential area along Taft avenue on the south side. They offer sandwiches, coffee, drinks without ice and sometimes a bit of music.

Where there are drinks, there is always bound to be a bigger night job for the M. P.'s. Some of the M. P.'s, with a sense of somewhat grim and melodramatic humor, posted this sign outside the door of the lock-up room in old Bilibid prison:

"In this cell, tied by their thumbs to the rings of the wall, countless numbers of American officers and soldiers were tortured to death for refusing to lower the standards of our nation and our army—so that someday in the future you could get drunk in Manila."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Levy of Houston have arrived for a visit with Corsicana relatives.

HOUSEWIVES GIVEN ANOTHER REMINDER OF SCARCER FOOD

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—OPA today posted new and higher April ration point values for two canned vegetables—peas and asparagus—as well as for pork, pork products and fats and oils.

As housewives thus received another reminder that many food items are growing scarcer, there were these related developments at home and abroad:

1. Any increase in meat prices to consumers—or any immediate increase in meat supplis for them—faded as possibilities of the senate's food investigation.

2. The American Farm Bureau Federation's livestock committee contended pork and beef are scarce because "Washington officials planned it this way."

3. The British house of commons heard a protest that Englishmen could not be expected to "wear their belts any tighter" than Americans.

4. A new congressional food inquiry took shape on Capitol Hill. The ration points changes announced today, effective Sunday, include a drop in the blue point cost of sweet cherries, prunes and tomato juice but left red point values on butter, beef, lamb, veal and most cheeses unchanged.

As senators recessed until next week their three-day inquiry into the meat situation, a majority of the senate agriculture committee indicated agreement that boosting prices to the housewife will not help.

"That would just be taking the lid off everything," commented Senator Ellender (D-La.)

Eleven East Texas Towns Will Share In Airport Program

MARSHALL, Tex., March 29—(AP)—Rep. Wright Patman notified the Marshall Chamber of Commerce yesterday that eleven East Texas towns are to share in a national postwar airport development program.

They will be included in a survey of a need for a system of airports and landing areas throughout the United States, to be conducted by the Secretary of Commerce through the administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The survey is requested under House resolution 598 passed by Congress.

East Texas towns included are Marshall, Jefferson, Clarksville, Cooper, Daingerfield, DeKalb, Mt. Pleasant, Paris, Simms, Sulphur Springs and Texarkana.

EDWARD WILSON DIED LAST NIGHT; RITES FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Edward Wilson, aged 78 years died at his home, 1719 West Thirteenth avenue, shortly after midnight Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had operated a grocery store for a number of years. They celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Monday and were honored with a dinner Sunday by relatives.

Surviving are his wife, Corsicana; two sons W. R. Wilson, Corsicana ,and Raymond Wilson, Houston; two daughters, Mrs. L. W. Brewer, Rice, and Mrs. B. D. Hendon, Corsicana; several grandchildren and other relatives.

Four grandsons are in the armed farces.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Memorial Baptist church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Rev. W. K. McGuire, North Waco Baptist church pastor, formerly pastor of the Memorial Baptist church here.

Corley Funeral Home is directing.

Gen. Lucius Clay Be Civil Ruler Of Occupied Germany

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who has been with the office of war mobilization and reconversion, was designated today to take charge of civil affairs in Germany when that country is occupied.

President Roosevelt made the announcement.

The appointment, the White House said, was by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Clay will be deputy to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the announcement asserted, "to have charge of civil affairs when General Eisenhower, as Supreme Commander, assumes control under the arrangement agreed upon for the occupation of Germany."

Clay had served at Eisenhower's headquarters before he went to OWMR as deputy director under James F. Byrnes.

The Presidential announcement said that Eisenhower had asked for Clay's assignment over civil affairs three weeks ago but that it was delayed because Marshall had agreed to let him remain with OWMR until April 1.

Clay will leave "within a few days."

The task of developing an organization for occupied Germany and administering it, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "is one for which General Clay is particularly qualified by reason of his splendid service in the civilian as well as in the military branches of government."
